French Give Up Main Junction South Of Hanoi

Phu Ly, Key To 'Mandarin Route' Is Abandoned

HANOI, July 3— UP — French forces pulled out of Phu Ly, the gateway to the "Mandarin route" into Hanoi Saturday with three crack Red rebel divisions hard on their heels.

Phu Ly, only 35 miles from Hanoi, was the southern anchor of France's newly revised Red River delta defense line. Thousands of French troops had just retreated to the city in the evacuation of the southern provinces of the delta, when they were forced to pull back again.

The Day River valley, 30 miles south of Hanoi, reverberated with tremendous explosions as French army engineers blew up munitions stocks before the retreat.

The withdrawal was ordered after French tanks and artillery smashed a major Red attack at about noon (10 p.m. CST Friday) the French high command said. The French claimed 400 Communists were killed or wounded in the futile attack.

The Reds had the defenders of Phu Ly under constant artillery fire from emplacements on the limestone cliffs across the river.

Three of Communist Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap's Red division pressed and pounded against the French defenses. Three days ago the Red 304th, 316th and 320th divisions surged into the area on the heels of the retreating French.

The French forces pulled back from the southern delta had joined with Phy Ly's garrison to repare a defense against the advancing legions, even as the high command debated whether to stand and fight or retreat.

But Saturday the retreat was ordered and every French plane in the delta was sent up to cover the miles-long convoys of trucks rumbling back with men and equipment.

The bridge across the Day River at Phu Ly was blown up as the French retreated.

Viet Minh raiders hit the withdrawal maneuver 10 miles north of Phu Ly on colonial route one at Nahitu. As soon as the Reds engaged the French, rebel re-inforcements were reported rushed up to harrass the retreating French.

The high command said that

House Insists On Dividend Income Tax Cut Clause

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—Rep. Daniel A. Reed (R-NY) said today that House tax bill negotiators will insist on their way of treating dividend income, which is much more generous than that voted by the Senate.

The Senate, in approving its version of the general tax revision bill yesterday, adopted nearly 600 changes in the House bill, and these differences will have to be settled at a Senate-House conference starting in two weeks.

Reed, who as chairman of the Ways and Means Committee will head the House conferees, said the "absolutely" will insist on restoring the House dividend provision. He predicted the Senate negotiators would accept this and that the final bill "will come out just about as it passed the House."

Under the House version, taxpayers would be able to deduct the first $50 of their dividend income in the first year, and then subtract 5 per cent of the remaining dividend income from the total tax owed. In the second and following years, $100 could be excluded and 10 per cent of the remaining dividend income subtracted from the tax.

The Senate cut out everything in this section except the first $50 deduction. In doing so it overrode the Senate Finance Committee, which had accepted the House provision intact.

The House version of dividend taxation would cost the Treasury an estimated 243 million dollars the

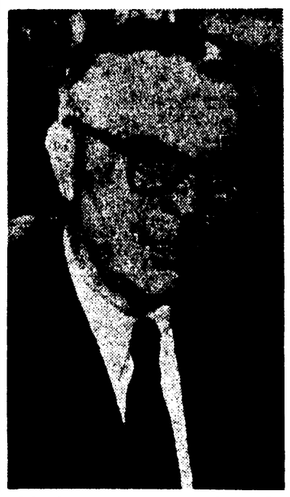
Two-Day Strike Of CIO Electric Workers Ended

NEW YORK, July 3 —UP— A two-day strike that had threatened long distance and manual telephone service throughout the country ended Saturday with the signing of a new labor contract by the Western Electric Co. and a CIO union representing more than 16,000 workers.



LIKENS U. S. TO HITLER —Former German Field Marshal Friedrich Paulus says at Communist-sponsored press conference in East Berlin yesterday that West Germany should sever its ties with the U. S. and establish good relations with Russia and France. He compared the U. S. world position to that of Hitler, saying it would fail. (AP Wirephoto)

Wage increases of five to seven cents an hour were granted to the 16,000 installation employes, and about 400 job clerks were given $1.50 weekly raises.

The agreement was hammered out at a marathon negotiating session by representatives of management and the Communications Workers of America, which ended at 2 a.m.

The union agreed to send the workers back to their jobs Tuesday morning, after the Fourth of July holiday weekend. The members will be asked to ratify terms of the contract on or before Aug. 2.

Installers and clerks employed by Western Electric in 44 states and the District of Columbia went out on strike at 11 a.m. Thursday seeking wage increases of six to eight cents an hour. The company had offered a boost of four to seven cents an hour to the workers, who had been receiving an average of $1.86 an hour.

The installers install central office equipment for telephone companies throughout the Bell system.

The strike had little effect on telephone operations but the union had threatened to throw up picket lines, which would have kept thousands of telephone operators and other union members away from their jobs.

Also at issue in the dispute was a company proposal to establish five new "base locations" throughout the country, in addition to the 11.1 it already had. These "base locations" are the cities in which installers are stationed. If the workers are required to work beyond commuting range from their home base, they are re-imbursed for travel and living expenses.

The union did not want any additional "base locations," but in the settlement, they accepted four—West Palm Beach and Pensacola, Fla., Saginaw, Mich., and Lake Charles, La., for a new total of 115.

The company originally had wanted to add Macon, Ga., also.

East Carroll Sheriff Seizes Slot Machines

LAKE PROVIDENCE, July 3. (Special) — Nine slot machines, property of the Powell - Martin-Barrett Post No. 37, were seized here late Friday by East Carroll Parish Sheriff, J. N. "Red" Gilbert.

The nine slot machines were reportedly stored in a barn on the Waddill plantation, operated by Jimmy Dillard, about six miles southwest of here on state highway 45.

The machines were seized from storage on a search warrant signed by Judge Frank Voelker.

Purchase price of the American Legion machines was reported to be $365 each. The legion paid approximately $2,000 in taxes to operate the slot machines before the state ban was enacted by state police Supt. Francis Grevemberg.

The Powell - Martin - Barrett post operated all slot machines in East Carroll parish until the state law banning their existence was enforced.

Sheriff Gilbert, when contacted about the seizure, said that he had "no statement to make at the present time, but when the proper time arrives I will issue a statement."

Jenkins Not To Run For Senate

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 3 (AP)—Ray H. Jenkins, square-jawed attorney who conducted the Army-McCarthy hearings for the Senate Investigations subcommittee, said today he will not run for U. S. Senator.

"I will not be a candidate for the United States Senate," Jenkins said in a statement to the press. "This decision has not been an easy one."

The announcement ended speculation, both official and otherwise, that had been common since Jenkins was named to handle the televised hearings.

Farmhand Killed In Auto-Truck Crash

GREENVILLE, Miss., July 3 (AP) — A 56-year-old farmhand was killed today in an automobile-pickup truck collision on Highway 61.

The dead man was identified as Payton Brown of Shaw.

Two other persons were injured seriously and four of Brown's children slightly.

Former Judge First Victim Of Firing Squad

Crowds Acclaim Rival Leaders Of Anti-Communism

GUATEMALA, July 3 (AP) — The leaders of the anti-Communist colonels' regime flew here in triumph today to press their campaign against criminal Reds with armed force and an already working firing squad.

An ousted Communist judge, accused of conniving in assassinations of anti-Reds last year, was the first victim of the firing squad.

The Arbenz regime judge, a Honduran lawyer named Romulo Reyes Flores, was executed in the capital prison yard yesterday.

The execution was announced by spokesmen for the ruling junta before its leaders — Col. Carlos Castillo Armas and Col. Elfego H. Monzon — made a delayed entry into the capital city which was decked with blue and white flags and banners.

Castillo, in a victory speech to thousands massed in Guatemala's main plaza, promised "true justice for workers and all sons of this blessed land."

Monzon, who will head the junta for 15 days until new elections are called, was with Castillo, as were other members of the junta.

Maj. Enrique Oliva, another member of the junta, stepped to a microphone and told the plaza crowd in an emotional speech that there should be an end to oppression.

Oliva was finance minister in the provisional government established by Castillo Armas after he had launched his uprising against the regime of Red-supported former President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

Castillo Armas and Monzon met this morning in San Salvador, El Salvador, where earlier this week they had signed an accord that halted the two-weeks conflict. The Guatemalan radio said a flight of six planes took off from the capital's airport and escorted the plane bringing Castillo Armas and Monzon here for their triumphant entry.

Their arrival had been expected yesterday, but Castillo Armas decided first to visit Chiquimula where he and his rebel army had set up headquarters during the brief air and ground war preceding Arbenz' ouster.

Yesterday's air of excitement and joy was not duplicated today by the capital's residents, but the city was still decorated.

Business went on about as usual until shortly before it was announced that the leaders of Guatemala's fourth government in recent weeks were finally on the way.

As the celebration went on, authorities pressed their search for fugitive Communist leaders suspected of stirring up antigovernment activity.

The government has claimed capture of some 400 Communists, but the top leaders were still reported inciting revolt in farm areas.

Observing the return of the new junta were a band of weary foreign correspondents who arrived here after an overland journey from Chiquimula.

Ike And Dulles Warn Britain On Red China Issue

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles told British leaders this week that the United States will do everything within its power to block Red China's bid for membership in the United Nations—an issue that threatens to split the Western alliance at the fall U.N. session.

British Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden indicated that Britain will do what it can to avert a showdown on the Red China problem this year. But they warned there may be very strong Allied and home front political pressures on the British government to support the Red bid actively.

These points, based on information available from diplomatic sources about the secret British-

Taxi Driver In Newark Garroted With Own Belt

The victim was Charles Fauquher, who lived with his wife, the former Beth Bush, 21, and their 3-months-old baby.

Police said the motive for the slaying was robbery. Fauquher's pockets were turned inside out and his black wallet was missing. However, his wife told police he had "very little money" with him when he left for work.

Dr. Edwin Albano, Essex County medical examiner, who performed an autopsy on Fauquher, said he was stunned by a blow on the back of his head before he was killed.

This led authorities to believe that the killer dragged his victim into the back seat and then strangled him with his own belt.

Fauquher came to Newark two years ago from Battle Creek where he married his wife, a noted violinist, in 1951.

Final Week Of Session Starts Tonight

School Segregation Main Issue Before Legislature

BATON ROUGE, July 3 (AP) — Public school segregation is the main issue before the Louisiana Legislature Sunday night as it heads into the final week of the 1954 session.

Most other major issues—right to work, livestock law, the general appropriations bill and a host of minor appropriations—cleared the Legislature this week and all but the lesser money bills were signed by Gov. Robert Kennon.

Kennon is expected to veto a large proportion of the 20 million dollar plus special appropriations which were rushed through the Senate to final passage so they might reach his desk before the Sunday night deadline. Under the law all appropriation bills must be ready for the governor's signature five days before adjournment, set for Thursday.

However, Louisiana's answer to the Supreme Court segregation ruling—a flexible plan to continue separate schools for the races—still requires final approval by the Legislature.

Kennon's signature Friday signaled the end of one of the bitterest battles in the history of the Legislature—the fight over the law banning compulsory labor union membership, or the right to work bill.

The measure won final House approval Thursday after proponents beat off attempts to amend and delay it.

The governor also signed the record breaking general appropriations bill, totaling 531 million dollars for operation of state agencies, and the Roberts stock law and Blair fencing bill.

The stock law, authored by Rep. Percy Roberts of East Baton Rouge Parish, bans livestock from roaming major Louisiana highways. It goes into effect next year so cattlemen may have time to fence their property.

To help pay the cost of fencing, the bill, sponsored by Rep. Cecil Blair of Rapides Parish, provides $400,000 which parishes may obtain by matching with equal amounts.

Awaiting the governor's signature or rejection are two touchy issues:

1. An $897,465 appropriation to pay a judgment against the state held by Jefferson Lake Sulphur Co.

2. A $122,000 appropriation to refund a portion of the $100 state tax to slot machine owners whose machines were smashed by state police in a crackdown on state gambling.

The Jefferson Lake measure passed the Senate, despite protest by a New Orleans lawmaker that Gov. Robert Kennon had threatened to veto his bills if he didn't support the measure.

The judgment relates to a trespass committed in 1931 and the company has been trying to obtain payment every since 1936. Kennon is expected to sign the bill, which will fulfill a unanimous Supreme Court ruling.

The bill to refund the tax money to the slot machine owners was backed by state revenue collector Rufus Fontenot, who contended it was unfair to collect the tax and then crack down on the one-armed bandits.

In other action last week the House killed by lopsided margins:

1. A bill to permit municipalities and parishes to levy a one cent sales tax without submission to the people.

2. A bill calling for a convention to rewrite Louisiana's much amended constituton.

The section of the segregation program set for Senate action Monday consists of a constitutional amendment—the keystone of the program—and two legislative acts. All three measures passed the House this week.

The constitutional amendment would allow the Legislature to call a special election at any time to change the constitution on emergency education plans. This would make possible immediate action by a special session after the Supreme Court hands down decrees to enforce its ruling.

As written, the constitution requires that amendments be voted on in a general state election with the next one—after November—due for 1956.

The constitutional amendment also provides for continuing separate schools for Negroes and whites "in the exercise of the state police power" declaring that this is done for the good of the public health, morals and welfare and "not because of race."

The police power phrase is a

Miss Louisiana To Be Chosen By Judges Tonight

LAKE PROVIDENCE, July 3 (Special) — In the second night preliminaries of the Miss Louisiana of 1954 competition here tonight, Miss Baton Rouge, 19-year-old Miss Floy Dean Smith, took top honors in the talent division, while Miss Louisiana Tech, Miss Gail Gleason, took first place in the swim suit division. The 18-year-old Louisiana Tech student won first place in the talent division Friday night.

The winner in tonight's talent division is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Smith, Baton Rouge, and a sophomore at Louisiana State Universary. She sang "Anywere I Wander."

Miss Gleason is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gleason, Jr., Belcher.

The evenings festivities were highlighted by the presentation of Miss Sonja LaBlanc, Miss Louisiana of 1953, who appeared on the stage in an evening gown, and wearing the crown she will relinquish to her successor here tomorrow night.

As an added attraction Miss LaBlanc performed "A Frenchman in St. Louis," the specialty dance which earned her the title of Miss c in last year's competi-ianasuioLa-Louisiana in last year's competition.

Also on hand for tonights performance was Bob Evans, who has emceed the pageant for the past four years. Evans was unable to be present for the opening night's performance.

Todays festivities got underway with a parade at 4 p.m., at which prizes were awarded for the best floats. First place in the float division went to the 4-H Club, while the Mothers Club of St. Patricks School was chosen the runner up. The third place award went to the Allied Youth Post.

Winner in the bicycle division was Bobbie Laird, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Laird.

During the 15-minute intermission between the talent and bathing suit portions of the program, the more than 800 person attending viewed an elaborate fireworks display.

The final portion of the pageant will get underway at 8 p.m. today, when all the contestants will be presented to the audience and judges. All will be dressed in evening gowns. From the group the ten finalists will be selected. They will then model evening gowns and swim suits, and will display their talents. From the finalists the judges will select Miss Louisiana of 1954.

Senate Probers Digging Into 'Smelly' Deals

Scope Of Inquiry, First In Housing Field, Widened

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP) — Sen. Capehart (R-Ind.) today mapped a broad attack on housing scandals which he said would expose "smelly, rotten deals" in several major cities and bring at least two top Truman administration housing officials before his Senate Banking Committee.

Capehart listed New York, Cleveland, Columbus, Chicago, Los Angeles, Detroit, Baltimore, Philadelphia and Dallas as cities where conditions will come under investigation in the next several weeks.

Raymond Foley, who was head of the Housing Home Finance Agency under former President Truman, and Franklin Richards, commissioner of the Federal Housing Administratitn for several years, will be called before the committee, Capehart said, but he carefully refrained from alleging any wrongdoing on their part.

Capehart said the refusal of Clyde L. Powell, ousted assistant FHA commissioner, to testify in two appearances before the committee would compel him to summon Foley, Richards and Walter L. Greene, acting FHA commissioner during the Truman-Eisenhower switchover. All three, Capehart said, apparently "closed their eyes and ears" to what he described as "scandalous situations."

Powell and Andrew Frost, suspended assistant state FHA director in New Mexico, have both pleaded the Fifth Amendment in refusing to answer questions about alleged collusion among builders, contractors, mortgage bankers and

MAHWAH, N.J., July 3 (AP) — Four of five occupants of a station wagon heading for a July 4th holiday were killed early today in an [illegible] head-on collision with an empty bus on heavily traveled [illegible].

The fifth occupant, a boy of 12, was the only member of his family to survive the terrific crash. He was taken to a hospital in critical condition.

It was the worst auto holiday accident reported in the nation during the first 18 hours of the Independence Day weekend.

Pronounced dead in or near the mangled car were:

Irving Gechlik, 41, Lodi, [illegible]sky, about 41, his wife Lillian, 39, and a son, Barry, 8, all of Brooklyn, N.Y.

Another son of the Lodi couple, Murray, 12, was reported in critical condition in Good Samaritan Hospital in nearby Suffern, N.Y. He suffered fractures of both legs and a possible fracture of the skull.

Curtis Clark, 23, of Hackensack, N.J., driver and sole occupant of the bus, was admitted to the same hospital in a state of shock with a gash in the head and a possible broken ankle.

Communist Indoctrination Tactics Form New Jenner Target

Red Infiltration Of U. S. Army To Be Probed

WASHINGTON, July 3 (AP) — A new investigation of alleged Communist infiltration of the Army, this time dealing with efforts to indoctrinate GIs in World War II, was announced today by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) said the hearings, starting Tuesday, will mark a new phase of the subcommittee inquiry begun last year into the "pattern" of Communist infiltration of the government.

"This and subsequent hearings," he said in a statement, "are expected to show how Communists, working behind the scenes, used the Army Information & Education Service in an effort to indoctrinate 8,000,000 GIs who are now back in civilian life."

Jenner said the subcommittee previously had received testimony indicating that "the Communist organization had a powerful interest in the information and education sections of the armed services" and that its members were under instructions "to penetrate those activities."

During the recent televised probe of the McCarthy - Army row, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), chairman of the Senate Investigations subcommittee, said he had received reports of pro-Communist material being used in Army training and indoctrination courses.

Testimony at the hearings was that McCarthy had suggested that Pvt. G. David Schine, a former unpaid consultant of the subcommittee, might be assigned after his basic training to checking on such materials.

A spokesman for the Jenner subcommittee said, however, that its probe grew out of testimony received during its investigation of communism in education and other inquiries it has conducted.

It touched on the subject briefly in its report a year ago on "Interlocking Subversion in Government Departments," saying that some Fifth Amendment witnesses it had heard "were engaged in certain, key special services for the armed forces" during World War II.

Jenner said the Internal Security subcommittee, in its forthcoming hearings "will seek to determine the Communist pattern in this undertaking as a guide to what the government must guard against in any future war."

Two days of hearings are scheduled initially, and a spokesman said the witnesses will include persons who participated in or had leading positions in the Army information program during World War II.

Britishers Celebrate Meat Rationing's End After Nearly 15 Years

LONDON, July 3 (AP) — Britain swung gaily into a new era of freedom tonight—freedom from rationing.

With housewives cheerily humming the old song "The Roast Beef of Old England" and tattered ration books going up in smoke in thousands of backyard bonfires, the nation on this Fourth of July eve celebrated an independence day of its own.

Meat, the last of the rationed food items, comes off the ration at midnight and for the first time in 14½ years of war and postwar shortages a woman can walk into any food shop in the land and buy anything and everything she can pay for.

"What a joy!" said Mrs. Gwilym Lloyd - George, wife of Prime Minister Churchill's minister of food, echoing the delicious sentiments of housewives.

Statisticians estimated two million women, many middle aged and with children grown into their teens, have never before kept house without a ration book.

"Tonight you burn the books," headlined Lord Beaverbrook's London Daily Express. "It's NO thanks for the memory (of that jelly and jam, that dried egg and Spam.")

The headline writer tugged at the heart strings of Briton remembering years of makeshift meals—dried egg made into rubbery omlettes, mysterious sausages with the constituency of sawdust, whale steak that tasted of the open seas, strange side-dishes that led the Ministry of Food to use kerosene oil in salads."

Meat derationing was largely symbolic. Most meat has been plentiful for months and off-ration purchases have been common—for a price.

Economists traced "freedom for roast beef" to an increase in world supplies, coupled with a growing prosperity that enables this Tight Little Isle to do more buying overseas.

"Much more food is now being eaten and there is more money to buy it," Dr. Charles Hill, parliamentary secretary to the Ministry of Food, said jubilantly in a political speech at Wrexham this afternoon.

"The extra food is being eaten by all classes of the community—not just the rich.

"To do this in three years is a magnificent achievement."

The Socialist view is that better supplies overseas are responsible. They fear rising prices. Most foods derationed under Churchill have shot up in price, then steadied.

Butchers today were forecasting higher prices at least during the next several weeks while shoppers and the trade get readjusted to a free economy in meat.

Through the war and on into the peace, while even some defeated nations ate well and enjoyed prosperity, Britain tightly rationed almost every item on the menu and clothing, soap and gasoline as well. Britons ate fish, tinned meat when they could get it, macaroni—and so many potatoes that for a time these were rationed, too. Shopkeepers were the masters.

Three years after V-day some restaurant waiters, asked for an extra pay of butter or a better cut of meat, were still replying without thinking: "Don't you know there's a war on?"

Only a year ago some butchers answered complaints about their meat with a casual shrug and sometimes a brief "Sorry, madam."

Queues — long lines of people waiting patiently and hopefully to be served—got to be part of the British way of life. Housewives often joined queues without knowing what they were queuing for. The feeling was that if twas worth a queue to others, whatever it was it must be good.

With the tables turned, life may be hard for the butchers now. The London Housewives Assn. organized a rally today in Trafalgar Square, in the heart of London. They sang gaily "The Roast Beef of Old England" and got a briefing from experts about how to tell one cut of meat from another, and a good cut from a bad one.

3 Persons Hurt In Car Accident Close To Ruston

RUSTON, July 3 (Special) — Three persons were injured near here about 10 a.m. today when the car in which they were riding rammed the rear of another vehicle.

Mrs. Sarah Hughes, a visitor at the home of Charles Colvin, Vienna, was driving south on highway 167, north of Ruston, when the vehicle collided with the rear of a car driven by Lee Crews, Negro.

According to reports, Crews had slowed down to adjust the rear view mirror of his car and was overtaken by Mrs. Hughes, who was driving the Colvin car. An oncoming car traveling in the opposite direction made it impossible for Mrs. Hughes to pass the Negro's car, and she skidded into the rear of the Crew's vehicle.

Mrs. Hughes and two passengers in the car she was driving, Patricia Hughes, three, and Miss Ida Colvin, were taken by Darby ambulance to the Lincoln Ruston hospital, where they were treated for minor injuries and released.

Neither Crews or any of the five passengers in his car were injured.

Approximately an hour later two airmen escaped injury when their car went out of control on an overpass two miles east of Arcadia and crashed into a guardrail.

According to police Airmen Robert Bentley and Oscar Edmiston, were en route from Graham Air Force Base, Fla., to their homes in Oklahoma City, Okla., when Edmiston, the driver, lost control of the vehicle while making a curve on the overpass. Police said the car crashed nto the goard rail and was demolished.

Neither of the occupants was injured.

95 Women Pilots Leave Long Beach For Knoxville

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 3—UP— Ninety - five women pilots flying 52 planes took off Saturday on a 2,000 - mile flight to Knoxville, Tenn., in the eighth annual all - woman transcontinental air race.

The first plane took off from Long Beach Municipal Airport at 1:31 p.m. (CST) after a three-hour and 31-minute delay caused by fog and haze.

The flight, nicknamed the "Powder Puff Derby," had been scheduled to start at 10 a.m. (CST) but airport authorities first delayed the start to 12 noon and then again because of poor visibility conditions. A crowd estimated at 2,000 persons watched the takeoffs.

The first plane to take off was piloted by Mrs. Evelyn Bryan, Jefferson City, Tenn., whose co-pilot was Eddie Lee Griffin, Knoxville, Tenn. They were flying a Stinson. The rest of the planes took off at two-minute intervals.

Most of the planes carried a pilot and at least one co-pilot, but seven women were attempting the flight alone.

The race, limited to stock planes, single or multi - engined with 300 horsepower or less, is flown on a handicap basis because of differences in size and performance of the aircraft.

Four past winners of the annual event are entered. They are Frances Bera, Loretta Foy, Jean Parker and Shirley Bocki.

Two grandmothers are entered, Mrs. Adeline Maylen, Inglewood, Calif., and Mrs. Gladys Muter, Chicago.

Miss America of 1943, Jean Bartel, is flying co-pilot for Miss Foy.

This year's race is routed through Blythe, Calif.,; Prescott and Winslow, Ariz.; Albuquerque, N. M.; Amarillo, Tex.; Oklahoma City; Fort Smith, Ark.; Memphis, Chattanooga and Knoxville.

The fliers must be timed in at one of these official stops before one-half hour after sunset. They will spend the night at an official stop since no night or instrument flying is permitted.

The official end of the race is July 6, and all contestants must reach Knoxville by that time to remain in the running.

new approach to the problem.

The constitutional amendment will require 26 Senate votes out of 39 for passage and approval by the voters in the fall election.

The Legislative acts, which require 20 votes and the governor's signature, provide for:

1. Maintaining separate school facilities for the preservation of peace and good order under its inherent police power.

2. Directing the parish school superintendent to assign each student to a school and providing steps to appeal from such assignment.

The latter measure drew a blast of criticism from Catholic Action of the South, official organ of the New Orleans archdiocese, which contended it could result "in the complete elimination of privately operated schools."

The Catholic newspaper attacked all three measures, saying they "would in effect deny free speech, freedom of the press and the basic rights of parents to send their children to a school of their choice, would penalize parents, children and others for obeying the supreme law of the land; and would set up a police state rivaling those of Hitler and Stalin."

Sen. W. M. Rainach of Summerfield, chairman of the 10-man legislative committee which drew up the bills, said amendments adopted in a Senate committee answered most of the objections.

But States Rights leader Leander Perez, district attorney of Plaquemines and St. Bernard parishes, contended the bills didn't go far enough.

Perez sponsored amendments killed by the House Public Education Committee which would have provided for public subsidies to send white children to private schools.

Two other measures designed to aid continued public school segregatiin are on the House calendar.

One proposes that all school boards are authorized to levy an additional five mill property tax for school maintenance and construction purposes.

The other would let the state use surplus funds from its beer tax in the future to help parishes already overburdened with debt to equalize school facilities.

Youth Seriously Injured In Dive

RAYVILLE, July 3 (Special)—Max Love, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Love, who resides 10 miles southeast of Rayville, was seriously injured in a swimming mishap at the Rayville municipal swimming pool today.

According to reports, Love was diving when he struck his head on another swimmer. As soon as the youth surfaced, he was pulled to shore by life guard Jerry Colson.

The youth appeared to be all right, but after questioning by Superintendent Don Darling, he was sent to the local clinic, where he was X-rayed. Dr. J. C. Ellington, the attending physician, said Love appeared to have suffered fracture of a cervical vertibrea, probably involving the spinal cord.

Love was transferred to St. Francis Sanitarium, where his injury was reported as serious. A friend of the Love family related that a physician said the youth would probably have to undergo an operation within the next few days.

French Give Up

Holiday Accident Fatality Total Is Now Above 100

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jammed highways and fair weather which sent millions to beaches led to a rapidly climbing July 4th weekend holiday death toll Saturday.

With the weekend less than one-third over, the fatality list stood at 112. Of that total traffic mishaps killed 72, while 19 drowned and 21 lost their lives from miscellaneous causes.

Grimmest of the highway mishaps was that near Mahwah, N.J. There, four of five occupants of a car starting out for a July 4th holiday were killed in a collision with an empty bus. The smash occurred about one mile south of the New York state line.

Senate Probers

FHA officials, particularly in the rental housing division.

Capehart has called a recess in public hearings this week, but he planned four private sessions with unidentified builders who are expected to testify publicly later.

The agencies include FHA, the Public Housing Administration and the Home Loan Bank board, all grouped loosely under the HHFA, now headed by Albert M. Cole, former Republican congressman from Kansas.

Capehart's probe is the first ever aimed by a congressional committee at any housing agency. Although the most sensational revelations so far have centered on multi-million-dollar "windfall" profits alleged made by builders under a now-expired section of the National Housing Act, the committee plans an exhaustive inquiry into these other phases of the law:

1. The FHA - insured home repair and modernization program, still in effect, under which home owners allegedly have been bilked of millions of dollars by irresponsible repair crews. The building of such nonessential "improvements" as swimming pools and barbecue pits with FHA-insured loans also will be looked into.

2. The cooperative housing section of the law, which Capehart says has been badly if not illegally used by some builders to make windfall profits.

3. The defense and military housing programs, which have come in for serious allegations of misuse by builders. Sen. Case (R-SD) said he has received reports of one builder of a military housing project who got an FHA-insured loan for $3,100,000 but spent only $995,000 on the project, pocketing the difference.

Under a five-year, billion-dollar program begun in 1950, the FHA is authorized to insure loans for the construction of housing projects on or adjacent to permanent military installations. Public hearings on this phase of the program are expected to start after Congress adjourns, and are planned for Chicago, probably Cleveland, and other cities.

About 11 officials of the FHA, including its first Eisenhower-appointed boss, Guy T. O. Hollyday, have been fired, suspended or retired since the White House first announced the start of a shakeup on April 12.

These are among the major allegations brought out so far:

1. That builders aggregated up to a half a billion dollars in windfall profits by getting loans, insured by the FHA, far in excess of actual construction costs.

2. That tenants in these projects are being charged rents adjusted to amortize not the actual cost of the project but the swollen loans approved by the FHA.

3. That contractors extended lush favors, such as "girlie" parties, free fishing trips, free building materials and the like to some FHA officials and that their superiors failed to take action.

American talks, strongly indicate the policy lines which the two great Western allies are following on the issue.

More and more officials are wondering whether the Red China membership fight does not present a far graver threat to the anti-Communst alliance of the Western powers in Europe than did the British-American dispute over formation of a united front in Southeast Asia.

Senate Republican leader Knowland said this week he would resign his position and fight for American withdrawal from the U. N. if Red China is admitted. Democratic leader Johnson in a follow-up speech generally supported Knowland's opposition.

Bastrop Woman Injured In Auto Accident Here

A Bastrop woman was injured shortly before noon yesterday in an accident involving three cars at the intersection of Sterlington Rd. and Louisville Avenue.

Mrs. Nellie Atkinson, 1301 Short Washington Street, Bastrop, suffered head, chest and knee injuries when the car in which she was riding, driven by M. J. Atkinson, 63, of the same address, struck a second car knocking it into the rear of a car registered to the Cudahy Packing Company.

According to investigating officers, Atkinson was traveling south on Sterlington Road, when the brakes on his vehicle failed as he approached the intersection. Atkinson swerved toward the side of the road and struck another vehicle parked in a service station driveway. The second vehicle was knocked into the car owned by the packing company.

Late yesterday the drivers of the second and third cars had to been identified.

Mrs. Atkinson was taken by Mulhearn ambulance to St. Francis Sanitarium, where her injuries were treated.

Farmerville Man Is Hurt In Auto Wreck

A Farmerville man suffered minor injuries about 1:30 p.m. yesterday when the car in which he was riding with another man skided into a embankment on Highway 13, approximately a quarter of a mile from Highway 80 west.

According to state police William R. Pace, Farmerville, received only minor injuries when a car in which he was passenger skidded into an embankment. Bersom Odom, also of Farmerville, and driver of the car, was uninjured.

Pace was taken by Mulhearn ambulance to St Francis Sanitarium, where last night he was reported to be "all right."

State police said Odom was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and having an expired driver's license.

The Freedom Under God observance of Independence Day is sponsored annually by spiritual mobilization. The relationship between the nation's religious heritage and the concept of liberty expressed in the Declaration of Independence keynotes the observance. Proclamations issued by the governors and mayors urge citizens to reread the Declaration of Independence and appraise the importance of freedom under God in the nation's life.

"The signers of the Declaration of Independence acknowledged that the freedom they proclaimed was a gift from their Creator," stated James C. Ingebretsen, president of Spiritual Mobilization. "Freedom under God, the only real freedom there is, is never a license to do as we please, but the right to do as we ought. The unity of reverent thought and prayerful action called for in the many proclamations which have been issued can spark increasing dedication to the spiritual foundation of our present strength and future security."

first year, rising to $14 million annually in full operation. The Senate version would cost about 45 million a year.

The Senate measure contains various selective tax cuts for corporations and individuals totaling some $1,300,000,000 in the next year. The House version embodies cuts of about $1,400,000,000.

The cost to the Tresury would be offset in large part during the first year by a provision extending the 52 per cent corporation income tax rate to April 1, 1955, rather than letting it drop to 47 per cent. This would yield an extra $1,200,000,000.

Officials said no estimate was immediately available today of the total revenue which would be raised by the legislation, which represents a massive rewriting of existing revenue law.

The over-all measure, which President Eisenhower calls the cornerstone of his legislative program, provides business relief through faster tax writeoffs on capital investments. Individuals would be allowed larger deductions for medical expenses and charitable contributions; rules on dependents would be relaxed, and up to $1200 of retirement income would become tax exempt. Most provisions would become effective as of last Jan. 1.

In addition to some tax cuts, the measure makes the first thorough overhaul of the revenue laws in more than half a century.

Power Lawn Mower Stolen; Youth Held

Chief of Detectives Hugh L. Tolbert said yesterday that A. (Doc) West, proprietor of a curb market on DeSiard Street, reported Saturday morning that a power mower valued at $100 had been stolen from the garage of his residence at Smith and DeSiard Street.

Tolbert said detectives recovered the mower a short time after the theft was reported. He also stated that a Negro juvenile had been taken into custody and charged with theft.

The youth, the detective chief said, has been released to city juvenile authorities for further action.

Tolbert also reported that Oliver Paige, 36, was apprehended by detectives late Friday night. Paige, he said, had been a trusty at the city jail, and had escaped while on a work detail.

HAROLD D. CANNON

Harold Cannon Is In Race For School Board

Harold D. Cannon, West Monroe building contractor, has announced his candidacy for the Ouachita Parish school board, subject to the Democratic primary on July 27. He is seeking one of the three seats from Ward 5.

Cannon, who has been a resident of Ward 5 for the past 25 years, is the father of three children, all of whom will be in school this fall. He is married to the former Miss Theada McCrary, also of Ward 5.

In announcing his candidacy, Cannon said he was "deeply interested in the welfare of the schools. In the next four or five years we will be facing many more serious problems than we have in the past. It is my earnest desire to aid in the handling of these problems.

Ellis Pauses In Alexandria After Speaking Tour

ALEXANDRIA, La., July 3 (Special) — Frank B. Ellis, candidate for the U. S. Senate seat of Senator Allen J. Ellender paused here Saturday night for a breather in his whirl-wind campaign.

Ellis attended the state-wide meeting of the United Penecostal Church, in session at the church camp near Tioga.

The candidate stumped the eastern section of the state Saturday, with speeches in Washington and St. Tammy Parishes.

Arriving here prior to the Pentecostal meeting, Ellis told reporters he planned to "keep the ball rolling down to the wire."

I'll keep slugging until election day (July 27) when I will ask the people of Louisiana to make their own decision inside the voting machine curtains," he said.

Triplets Born To Prolific Mother

WASHINGTON, Pa., July 3 (AP)—A mother of 13 children—including three sets of twins—gave birth to triplets yesterday, increasing the size of her family to 16.

The triplets, all girls, were born in Washington (Pa.) hospital to Mrs. George Hradil of nearby Avella. Her husband is an unemployed laborer.

Doctors said the triplets were born in Washington (Pa.) Hospital to Mrs. George Hradil of nearby Avella. Her husband is an unemployed laborer.

Doctors said the triplets were born prematurely. Their total weight was only six pounds. The babies' condition today was listed as "better" but "still delicate."

Florida Ranks High In Ratio Of Oil Leases To Wells Under Production

HOUSTON, July 3 (AP)—Florida, with only a dozen oil wells, ranks among the top states in oil and gas leases.

Of the 27 oil producing states last year, Florida ranked 26th in proven productive acreage but 7th in total acreage under lease.

For each of its 3,000 proven acres, Florida, at the end of 1953, had 5,883 non-productive acres either waiting to be explored or, in some cases, the victim of a dry hole.

The 27-state average is one proven acre to approximately 17½ non-productive acres.

Texas has 20 non-productive acres under lease for each productive acre, Montana 26, California 18, Oklahoma 13, Louisiana 8½.

About 67 per cent of North Dakota's total acreage has been leased since the 1951 Williston Basin boom but its ratio today is far below Florida—768 non-productive to one productive acre.

Similar statistics on each oil producing state are included in the 1954 edition of "The Oil Producing Industry in Your State" as published recently by the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

The booklet first was published in 1952 and has been revised as part of the observance of IPAA's 25th anniversary.

Acreage under lease to oil companies as of last Jan. 1 totaled 315,568,250 or 27 per cent of the total land area of the 27 oil producing states.

Proven productive acreage totaled 18,371,250, non-productive 297,197,000.

Surprisingly, Texas is not the leader in proven acreage, its 3,500,000 acres ranking second to Kansas' 4,175,000. Texas does lead in non-productive at 69,000,000.

Florida, with 51 per cent, is second to North Dakota as to total per cent of the state under lease. Texas is third at 43 per cent and is followed by Louisiana 40 per cent, Oklahoma and West Virginia 39 and Kansas 37. Only 6 per cent of California is under lease.

The 1952 booklet said the search for oil probably would add new names to the list of oil producing states. Since then oil has been discovered in Arizona, Nevada and South Dakota.

Mystery Death Of Attorney To Be Clarified

NEW ORLEANS July 3—UP—Homicide officers said here today that the death of a 32-year-old Baton Rouge attorney might be classified Tuesday.

The lawyer, John R. Jones, died in a car en route to Baton Rouge last Saturday after he was found in a semi-conscious condition on the floor of his apartment in downtown New Orleans.

Capt. William Dowie, Jr., acting chief of detectives, said that homicide detectives have completed a report on the investigation and their findings will be studied at a conference Tuesday with Dr. Nicholas J. Chetta, Orleans parish coroner, and Leon D. Hubert, Orleans parish district attorney.

An autopsy in the East Baton Rouge parish coroner's office showed a fractured skull, cerebral hemorrhage and evidence of acute alcoholism.

Car Jumps Curb, Girl Is Killed

NEW ORLEANS July 3—UP—A 12-year-old Kenner girl died today from injuries received yesterday when a car jumped a curb and struck her, seriously injured her 10-year-old sister and killed her pet dog.

The victim, Darolyn Farlow, died early today at Oschner hospital. Her sister Patricia was reported in serious condition.

Jefferson parish deputies have booked John McConnell, 34, with negligent homicide. They said he apparently fell asleep while driving.

Negro Receives Death Sentence

DONALDSONVILLE, La., July 3—UP—Leroy Willie Jackson, 33, McComb, Miss., Negro, was under a death sentence today for his part in the slaying of an 87-year-old farmer.

District Judge Clyde St. Amant sentenced Jackson Thursday and denied a motion for a new trial. The Negro was tried in April for the murder of Samuel B. Barman, a St. Amant La., farmer, and found guilty by an Ascension trial jury.

Attorneys for Jackson said a suspensive appeal would be filed with the state supreme court, returnable Aug. 27.

A second Negro in the case, Henry Leggle of New Orleans, pleaded guilty without capital punishment and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

The Day Of The Saxon

Many years ago, a man of extraordinary intelligence, with a great degree of knowledge concerning comparative history and with keen intellect, wrote two books.

The first was called "The Day of The Saxon." The second was called "The Valor of Ignorance."

Homer Lea, basing his conclusions on modern history and comparative, ancient and oriental history, accurately predicted what came to pass in 1941 throughout Asia. He predicted with uncanny accuracy, the landing of the Japanese in the Philippines and the spread of the greater "Co-East Asia Prosperity Sphere." In short, Lea stated that the day of the Saxon was about over. This, fellow Americans, was in the years at the turn of the century.

Lea was no prognosticator. He never used "public opinion polls" and never "sampled" the "pulse" of the public. He, along with Oswald Spengler and others, merely compared history of civilizations and decided that the Western civilization was due for a terrible downfall.

You say, "I thought this would probably be a 'flag waving Fourth of July editorial." You will possibly not be disappointed, but there are necessary aspects to consider concerning this day so hallowed in American minds.

The beginnings of the downfall of Western society and eminence came in the French revolution when millions of maddened Frenchmen believed that by eliminating the ruling classes, they would eliminate tyranny. Has this not happened in other nations? Has not a mild form of tyranny been replaced with an even greater tyranny?

Consider the United States. Americans fought for years and years to gain their independence from the British crown. For many more years, this was an independent nation. Today, however, the U. S. leaders are handing the independence earned over the years at such cost to the intrigues of foreign powers. The American people are taxed beyond belief, much more so than could have been the case under the British.

The United States was formed as a bulwark against the tyranny of other nations. It welcomed all peoples to its shores. It denounced colonialism and the power of great empires over the peoples of more unfortunate and less powerful sections of the world.

Today, it sponsors the same empires it used to denounce. It financially underwrites the very same nation and empire from which it broke away many years ago.

The United States was formed as a Christian nation, its laws were those laws based on the idea that they were agreeable under God. It, in the years since its formation, has become a bulwark of that which has come to be known as the "Western" civilization. It has carried for half a century, "the white man's burden." In two bloodbaths over the same length of time, the "white man" has been decimated, his ranks thinned, his power to produce weakened. As a result, the other races and other nations formerly considered backward are progressing.

The United States today must re-examine its precarious position in world affairs and perhaps retrace itself a few years. If, as the prophets Lea and Spengler state, the Western Civilization is on a decline, if it will fall, the United States as the acknowledged leader, will fall with it.

On the inside of the nation, there are forces at work which are never tiring. They work day and night, they work week in and week out without let up to assist your country in the final collapse of that which could be termed the Saxon civilization.

Once upon a time, the United States was a prideful nation. It was a boastful nation. Didn't it have the right to be? In a hundred short years, it had accomplished what other nations over many centuries never accomplished. It was a "model" nation. Materially, it far outstripped even its closest rivals. Its word bore honor. It was a defender of right and a fighter against wrong. As such, it was the envy of all powerful nations. As such, it was embroiled in conflicts in which it had no business.

The woes of old Europe became its own woes and now, Americans are rapidly attempting to be more like Europeans than the Europeans themselves. They drive European type automobiles, the women slash their hair as do the Italians, the men walk about in "British walking shorts" and the morals of the nation would appear to be more French than American. The United States which made its way unassisted for so many years by the Europeans has adopted even the political philosophy of the old continent.

The idea that the individual American is as good as his fellow citizen has been apparently scrapped and in its place is class warfare even as Marx wanted it to be. Now, "the common man" is a force in existence when fifty years ago, every man, no matter his life's station, had hopes of building himself to the highest pinnacle. The freedoms once possessed have been relegated, turned over to foreign concepts of a powerful centralized government. The flag has been relegated to secondary position alongside that of the "United Nations," an organization which beyond a shadow of a doubt, is determined to wreck the power and the position of this last bastion of western freedom.

Patriotism has become a laugh. To be a patriot is to be a fanatic. To stand up for principles once thought secondary, is to be a fool, a "behind the times reactionary." Now, the U. S. has reached a new low in world affairs not all of its own choosing but because it was forced into that position by Europeans and others who, unmindful of their own fate, would pull the United States to pieces.

The American people, filled with delights of a material nature, are lazy, asleep, unknowing that their taken for granted freedoms are being removed by the hour, even by the minute. They are unknowing that treacherous citizens, in cooperation with foreign elements are stirring revolt among "classes and races" in the nation.

The legislative branch of government is selling itself to destruction.

The American people are little better than idol worshippers, idolizing a man, not God, Christ and the laws which made the nation great. In order to be a leader, one must have a "charming personality."

Homer Lea predicted it—Oswald Spengler predicted it—it's coming true. The United States, as the leader of the Saxon world, is fast falling before a new religion, a vibrant one, adopting many facets of the ideas which made this nation great. In defense of colonialism, how can the United States be the defender of people? Following Marxian economic concepts, how can the United States succeed?

On this Fourth of July, you'd better wave the flag as its not been waved before.

One never knows how many other "Fourths" may come and go.

'Backward, Turn Backward, O, Time, In Your Flight—'

A reader from Tulsa, Oklahoma, a lady who describes herself as a "tender young thing" of 81 years, Mrs. Ambie Mitchell wrote a letter to the Morning World last week of such nature and excellence as to merit great attention.

Mrs. Mitchell is a retired school teacher. She taught fifty long, good years.

If only there were more teachers today like Mrs. Mitchell. The piece she wrote the editor, concerned the passing years. It shows, in a comparison, the extent to which a nation has forgotten itself.

The Morning World hopes you will read Mrs. Mitchell's description and perhaps let her know through this newspaper, that she is not alone in her thoughts, her hopes and her memories.

"Nearly forty years ago, late on a sultry afternoon we were returning to our home in a small Missouri town. Our family—my husband, our two small children and I—had driven thirty miles to a Fourth of July celebration in the city. Bright and early we had started out with water-jug, picnic basket, and a small bag of firecrackers. The children were dressed in their Sunday best, and carried flags taller than themselves. We were driving our first car and felt rather proud, for not many cars were in evidence about our town at that time.

"The air was exhilarating and we responded with proper enthusiasm.

"The return trip was different. We were tired, hot, and dusty. The two little ones were slumped down in the back seat asleep, their somewhat wrinkled flags clasped in their sweaty hands.

"Slowly and moodily we drove along the blistering gravelled road, both of us likely thinking the same thing—that we had better stayed at home and mowed the big lawn.

"The whistle of an engine sounded, and we saw its train coming around the curve and onto the stretch of tracks a short distance from us and running parallel to the highway. It crawled along slowly, as if it, too, were tired. At the open windows of the two passenger coaches I could see the outlines of the travelers.

"Idly I took a large white napkin from the lunch basket, leaned out the window and waved it. Only one hand waved back, languidly.

"Poor people," I sympathized, mentally, "they're tired out, too."

"Then I took a flag from one of the small hands, leaned out again and waved it back and forth.

"A miracle happened! A sudden shout that seemed to split the sultry air crashed from that sleepy train, as heads and waving arms crowded every window. One frenzied, jubilant shout followed another; and somewhere from within, above the shouting, came strains of "The Star-Spangled Banner" played by some kind of band.

"Well, Mother," said my husband in a not-too-steady voice, "you hit them in the right spot."

"The train crawled slowly on, and we kept pace with it. I could still see it, but only as a dim, moving monster; for my eyes stung and my throat hurt. I was crying, as that train of forty years ago swept around the curve and out of view.

"What caused the "miracle?" What was it that reached across the space and merged the emotions of those strangers with ours?

"It was the great, overpowering love for OUR country.

"It is called—PATRIOTISM."

In These Times—A Necessity

Last week, the Senate Finance Committee of the Louisiana Legislature voted to extend the Louisiana Office of Civil Defense its funds for another year.

CD in Louisiana had asked for 150,000 dollars. It was feared that the funds would be slashed by a third. Such a slash would have been tantamount to disaster.

In these days and times, the people must re-examine their thoughts towards the Civil Defense Program. In every nation, the Communists are sweeping the field. In every theater of the world, the Communists are moving to victory. Their plan to isolate the United States is moving forward to completion some twenty months ahead of schedule. The Russian Army and Navy is becoming awesomely more powerful. The Chinese Communist Army is a dreadful thing to behold.

Both are in possession of atomic weapons. Both are in a position to deliver these weapons.

The State of Louisiana is possessed of two national major target areas, possibly three. It is a known fact that the Esso refineries at Baton Rouge are under Communist eye. In a time of conflict, the sabotage in this state would be an awful thing to contemplate.

Yet, all this coupled with the fact that the state is quite frequently visited by tornadoes does not seem to hinder some senators who would slash Civil Defense. As a matter of fact, this agency quite possibly, could be of most sizable salvation to the citizens of this and other areas.

Any lawmaker should become increasingly aware of conditions in the world (that great wide world outside Shreveport and Baton Rouge) which might in the next few years, plunge all of the citizens into a frightening war.

To be certain, that war will not escape the United States.

Think it over, Senators.

A Curious Attack

Several months ago, a magazine published in the United States printed an entire issue devoted to a severe attack on Senator Joseph R. McCarthy.

The magazine is called "The Progressive." A local citizen brought the article, rather, the issue to the attention of the Morning World as he felt that numerous people in his immediate circle of associates had been misled by the statements made.

The best way to make a consideration of any article or series of articles is probably to delve into the background of the article in question.

The Progressive was formed in 1909 by Robert LaFollette as a part or organ of the Progressive party. The party eventually folded, but the magazine apparently didn't. In any case, "The Progressive" while not an organ of the present day "National Progressives of America" follows many tenets of that organization and continues a majority of its policies.

The current editor is Morris H. Rubin. It calls itself "America's Fighting Liberal Monthly." In 1951, it made the following editorial statement: "The Progressive goes into its fifth decade leading the battle for a liberal American progressivism—a rallying point for liberal leaders and a forum for Americans of all political complexions."

Among many recent contributors to the "Progressive" are: Alan Barth, Ralph Bunche, Chester Bowles, Stuart Chase, Elmer Davis, Paul Douglas, Learned Hand, Patrick Malin, Milton Meyer, Richard Neuberger, Fred Rodell, Richard Rovere, Arthur Schlesinger, Jr., Eric Sevareid, Howard K. Smith, Norman Thomas, James Warburg, Roger Baldwin, Stringfellow Barr, Louis Bromfield, Arthur Hays, John Haymes Holmes, Hubert Humphrey, Estes Kefauver, David Lilenthal, E. C. Lindeman, Cord Meyer, Jr., A. J. Muste, A. Philip Randolph, Jerry Voorhis, James Wechsler and Walter White.

Most of these have extensive front records. Several are well known Socialists and others are leaders of the "World Government" movement. Appearing in The Progressive have been advertisements of the "War Resister's League," an extreme left pacifist group, the Socialist "League For Industrial Democracy," the "Libertarian Socialist Committee," "The Western Socialist," "American Friends Service Committee," "Expose" and the "Foundation of Foreign Affairs."

It is easy to see why "The Progressive" would attack McCarthy.

Sir Winston's Visit

New Orleans, La.

Editor, Morning World:

Many thanks for sending me a copy of your leading article of the 28th June entitled 'The British and the Russians and Chiang's Navy' and the accompanying cartoon. It inspires me to want to visit your nice city again as there must be many topics we could discuss with profit; if so, it will have to be of course at my own expense or that of the British tax-payer."

I must say I think the cartoon does less than justice to the appearance of the American tax-payer, whom I have always regarded as a virile type like the British taxpayer. Also I do not think the poor little fellow you represent is going to lose out as a result of the Prime Minister's visit. As far as I am aware neither Sir Winston nor Anthony Eden have asked for a cent.

I am sorry you think Anthony Eden's speech was blisteringly anti-American. He did say our two countries sometimes took different points of view, but went on to point out that they were free countries and being free countries had a free press, which was bound to discuss such differences; the Communist countries had their differences too, but you would not read anything in their newspapers about them. He concluded by saying that such differences were nothing beside the great flow of human endeavor in which we (Britain and America) want to join to establish the peace of the world.

Let Asians Fight Asians

West Monroe, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The more I read and listen to the world news, the more I become concerned with the fate of our way of life. The more I learn of the inability of some of our political leaders to cope with national and international affairs.

I am thinking of the meetings at Yalta, Potsdam and Terehan, in which two of our presidents in secret meetings were taken in by Joe Stalin and I understand that Algier Hiss was the presidential advisor.

If, as we say that we believe, all men should be free, have a right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, they certainly failed to practice what we preach.

How can we ever convince these nations that we believe in freedom for every one? How can the nations under British and French control believe we are sincere when we, year after year, give Britain and France money for their economy and military. This enables them to keep troops in these countries to control and enforce their will on the people. Why should we not have agreed to send them aid only if they gave these people their freedom.

France has brought this war down on their own heads by refusing to grant them their freedom. Let us for once be frank with ourselves. Until the British and French give the nations under their control their freedom, not a single American soldier should have to fight or any more equipment be sent, and if they do grant them their freedom, they would have something to fight for and have plenty of men who could be trained. This has been proven in Korea. I understand the French refused the help of Korean soldiers.

I think it is time we let Asians fight Asians, and time to stop these secret meetings in which we always come out losers, and time to stop this give away program and let our so called allies go to the bank and borrow the money and be sure then that collateral, the same as we do when we borrow money. We can no longer afford to give them money to support British and French colonialism and big interest. We should not be called on any longer to raise soldiers and nurses on a six hundred dollar allowance. We should no longer be called on to subsidize advertising mail order catalogues and magazines.

It is time the American people get some relief.

Russian Agitators

Ruston, La.

Editor, Morning World:

The Negro was never constitutionally made a citizen of this country but in spite of this fact the South has enabled him to advance more than any race of people on earth. During these years the two races have lived together peacefully until Roosevelt turned the Russians into this country. Ever since then, these rapscallions have been trying to start a revolution here.

The Russians spent millions of dollars, paying it to stooges in this country, to influence the Supreme Court to break down segregation and mingle the two races which she was almost positive would explode into a race riot or internecine warfare. When the Supreme Court completes its execution, or ruling, in the fall Russia plans to send her highly-paid agitators into the south to mingle the races as they have never been before. This is the way of the Communists who want nothing but trouble and if our colored people fall for such propaganda they will find themselves standing in their own light. They cannot advance furthermore without assistance from the South.

Timmons In Washington

By Bascom N. Timmons

GOP Split Is Deep

WASHINGTON, D. C. — An experienced Republican political observer who has traveled through the middle west and the states further west says that the GOP split in those sections is too deep to be bridged in the 1954 campaign.

This confirms numerous other opinions of the same nature, previously received at this listening post. Their significance reaches beyond the November election, for the party division, while not so conspicuous at the moment, is reminiscent of that in 1910, the last great breach in the GOP which split the party wide open in the 1912 presidential campaign.

The reports coincide in that much of the feeling in the west is directed against President Eisenhower, though he carried most of those states in the 1952 election. He was the popular pre convention favorite west of the Mississippi in that year, though some organization controlled delegations from that section voted for Senator Taft as the presidential nominee.

The GOP split still reflects the deep feeling of the Taft forces at that convention, which opened in Chicago two years ago July 7. The observers' report can be summarized as follows:

"You find life long Republicans, who fought the New Deal - Fair Deal administrations at every turn, who will admit in private conversation that they don't like the President and have never become reconciled to him as party leader. They criticize the eastern Republicans — Governor Dewey, former Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts and his brother Governor John Lodge of Connecticut, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, and a number of others whom they call the "international set." They give the impression that scarcely any price would be too great to get the President out of the White House."

Those are harsh words and would not be put down here were it not for the fact that this writer has confidence in the Republicans who reported them. But western Republicans have always included a strong conservative element which, though in the minority, is unchanging. Senator Robert A. Taft, though dead, is still their idol. They realize that in his passing, their last chance to assert any control within the party was lost, but that does not change their views.

That does not mean that such Republicans are in the majority west of the Mississippi. They do cause concern, however, among the party leaders who are aware of their anti - Eisenhower feeling. With a campaign beginning, in which every Republican element must do its best, disgruntled Republicans are cause for concern. They could mean the difference between victory and defeat in some states.

Republican senators have stiff fights in Idaho, Oregon, California. Chances of Republicans nominees to win Democratic seats in Montana, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico and Iowa are only middling fair. Control of the next Senate will probably be decided in that area.

The reports from the middle west have an even graver tone, from a Republican viewpoint. The real contests will be in Michigan, Illinois and Ohio, all former Taft strongholds. The GOP senatorial candidates in those states are all former Taft men.

An illustration of the deviation from administration policy in that section was the unequivocal assertion of Senator Homer Ferguson (Rep. - Mich.) this week that if the United Nations should vote to take in Red China, the United States should withdraw from U. N. That went far beyond any administration statement on foreign policy, though the Eisenhower opposition to admission of Red China has been firmly established.

One interesting observation in this private survey of sentiment in the middle west was that in the split between the President and Senator McCarthy, the old Taftites are on the McCarthy side. What Senator Taft would have said or done about the Wisconsin senator in 1954 cannot even be surmised, but it is recalled that he said in 1950 that "McCarthy should keep talking and if one case doesn't work out he should proceed with another." He later explained that he meant that McCarthy had a right to proceed with his cases in an orderly way.

How this reported division will affect the fall campaign can't be predicted now. It only indicates that the breach which Senator Taft tried to heal is still there, and there is no new healer in sight.

WATERMELON TIME — Northeast State students, faculty and staff forget classes to usher in July 4 with a melon feast, which has become a traditional event on the campus. The smiling group in the top picture give plenty of evidence that the celebration gained hearty approval. Left to right are Mrs. Betty Barr, Glynn Swett, Gracie Stewart, Beth Anderson and O. C. Hancock. In right photo no one seems to object to waiting in line. Front row shows Jeanette Jones, Florence Smith, Jerry Rust, commerce instructor, and Wayne Corkran. Louisiana Richer By $25,000,000 On State Lands

BATON ROUGE, July 3. (Special)— Louisiana is richer by $25 million resulting from the leasing of mineral - rich vacant state lands and tidelands during the first half of 1954.

The announcement of January-June $25,060,865.63 collections by the State Land Office, mostly from rentals, royalties and bonuses paid by private oil firms holding leases on state property, was made today by Mrs. Ellen Bryan Moore, register of state lands.

Mrs. Moore also announced that June collections of $9,137,130.99 established a new monthly high. Previous high month was August, 1948 during which $7,973,767.21 was collected.

Of the $25 million received the past six months, Mrs. Moore said, almost one third of it, or $8,341,250.71 came into the state from offshore leasing.

More than one half the six months tidelands receipts was collected in June. The $4,868,255.15 June tidelands receipts include large bids and rentals paid for new offshore areas put up for leasing in May. The leases were granted by the State Mineral Board.

"Louisiana is collecting more than ever before from oil companies holding leases on state land," Mrs. Moore continued. "At the rate of current State Land Office collections, we're collecting almost twice as much as in 1952, four times as much as in 1946."

The 1952-53 collections, Mrs. Moore pointed out, were a record $63,949,499.08 for a 24-month period. Figuring at the rate of $25 million per half year, she said, Land Office 1954-55 collections would surpass the $100 million mark.

Texas Teacher New President Of NEA

NEW YORK, July 3 (AP) — Miss Waurine Walker of Austin, Tex., was elected president of the National Education Assn. yesterday at the close of its 92nd annual convention.

Miss Walker, who succeeds William A. Early of Savannah, Ga., was unopposed for the office. Also unopposed for first vice president was J. Lester Buford of Mt. Vernon, Ill.

A resolution asking for an end to segregation in public schools and adopted on final day of the convention was opposed by only two states, South Carolina and Mississippi.

Audit Shows Shortage Of $6,000 In Mississippi's Seafood Commission

JACKSON, Miss., July 3 (AP)—State Auditor William Neal said today an aduit of the Mississippi Seafood Commission revealed a shortage of more than $6,000.

Neal released a copy of a letter written jointly to Secretary Clell Dildy of Biloxi and the National Surety Corp. of New York, Dildy's bonding company, demanding payment of $6,079.66 plus interest of $151.71.

He said the shortage covered the period of July 1, 1953 to June 1, 1954, date of the audit.

Neal had photostatic copies of two deposit receipts issued to Dildy which he said had been falsified. He said the deposit slips covered the amounts that were shown missing. Two weeks sgo, Mrs. Dildy said her husband was not home but declined to make a statement to a Jackson Daily News reporter.

Walter Gex, Jr., chairman of the commission, said of the commission. Dildy was absent without leave so the commission withheld his check.

Dildy is a full-time employe of the commission with a monthly salary of $175.

Neal said the bonding company has 30 days in which to make good the sum. After that, he said the case would be turned over to the attorney general for suit.

Course Slated In Elementary School Science

Featured in additional attractions of Northeast State's summer school will be a short course and workshop, both dealing with the teaching of elementary school science. The short course will offer one semester hour of credit. It is scheduled July 12-16 from 1 to 4 p.m. and on July 17 from 9 to 12 a.m. The registration fee is $5.

Workshop meetings are listed July 14-16 from 9 to 11 a.m. in Brown Auditorium on the campus. The program is open to all school personnel throughout this area without cost since it carries no college credit.

Both the short course and workshop are being presented upon request of teachers and school administrators. The project is sponsored by the teacher education department of Northeast, headed by William M. Smith, dean of the college.

Principal consultant of the meetings will be Dr. Paul E. Blackwood, specialist for elementary science and elementary education in the division of state and local school systems, United States Office of Education.

Before going to the Office of Education, Dr. Blackwood was an assistant professor at Ohio State University. In recent years he has taught science education at Teachers College, Columbia University, and elementary curriculum for the University of Virginia Extension. Previously he has been on the faculty of natural sciences, at Central Washington College of Education, Ellensburg, Wash.

Besides his teaching career and work with the U. S. Office of Education Dr. Blackwood is the writer of a number of science books. He is author and co-author of several recent publications of the Office of Education, including "Teaching Elementary Science," "Science Teaching in Rural and Small Town Schools," "The Place of Subjects in the Curriculum" and "How Children Learn To Think."

Trotsky's Killer Seeking Release From His Prison

MEXICO CITY, July 3 (AP) — Jacques Mornard, who hacked Leon Trotsky to death 14 years ago, has asked to be released from prison.

In a six-page letter addressed to the Mexican secretary of internal affairs, Mornard argued his good behavior as a prisoner entitled him to freedom. He has served 14 years of a 20 year sentence.

With the letter Mornard sent 3,400 pesos (about $278) which at the time of his conviction the court ordered him to pay to Trotsky's widow as compensation.

He expressed fear for his life, saying in case he should be transferred from the penitentiary to the penal colony on the Maria Islands, there is a possibility someone might try to kill him on the way or after arrival.

Mornard became eligible for parole last December, but he made no move at the time. Most interested persons thought he wanted to hold on to the protection of his cell and avoid persons who might want to avenge Trotsky's death or silence Mornard forever.

Mornard hacked the exiled Russian revolutionary leader to death with an ice ax here on Aug. 20, 1940. He never has said exactly who he is, why he murdered Trotsky, whether he was hired to commit the crime or did it on his own.

He lives comfortably in a private prison apartment for which he pays 500 pesos a month from a mysterious private income. A prison employe once said Mornard gets 3,000 pesos a month from the Soviet embassy here.

National Guard Watches Polls In Okla. Primary

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 3 —UP—Six Democratic candidates for governor Saturday predicted confidently they will win runoff spots in Tuesday's primary election, which the National Guard will be watching in five counties.

The campaign manager for Sen. Robert S. Kerr delivered a last - minute blow at former Gov. Roy T. Turner in their bitter fight in the Senate race, while Turner's camp predicted victory by 100,000 votes.

An estimated half-million voters will go to the polls, starting at 6 a.m. Tuesday, to choose among 141 candidates for state and federal office and a host of other candidates for county office.

The primary election will choose nominees — or runoff candidates — for both Democrats and Republicans, and the voting probably will be done in hot, dry weather. The runoff primary is July 27.

The Democrats will have 21 state and federal contests on the ballot, but most of the attention is centered on the heated races for governor and senator.

Kerr, who proceded Turner as governor is running on his record as a supporter of high price supports for farm products and of heavier federal spending for water and soil conservation. Turner charges Kerr's vast oil and uranium enterprises have caused him to be absent when Oklahoma issues were at stake in Washington.

Gov. Johnston Murray, whose wife is running for governor, declared martial law in five eastern counties and said Saturday that more than 200 members of the 45th Division National Guard will watch the 197 precinct polling places election day.

The executive order drew fire from some sources, but Murray said the "appalling" voting conditions in the five counties justified the drastic action. The soldiers will not be armed, and they will call on civilian law enforcement agencies to make any necessary arrests.

The five counties where the guardsmen will preside are Cherokee, Adair, Leflore, Sequoyah and Pittsburg.

The headquarters of six of the 16 candidates for governor issued victory prediction statements Saturday to the United Press, and all said their men would be in the two-horse runoff.

State Sen. Raymond Gary, Madill, who has led in newspaper polls, said he will lead the second-runner by 100,000 votes because "I have made this campaign on the basis of a program of government and not upon personalities."

"A PLANE FOR EVERY NEED"

Piper has built and is building more aircraft for personal, business and farm use than any other manufacturer in the world. Pilots prefer Pipers because they best combine the four things you want most in your airplane—performance, safety, utility, and economy. But most important is the Piper tradition of "honest" flight characteristics which means peace of mind and confidence of flight. For more details and a flight demonstration . . .

160 Golfers Compete In Kraft Tourney

Paul Martin Looks 'Em Over

The regular schedules have been completed and the powers of Fifth District American Legion Junior baseball—West Monroe, Bastrop, Farmerville and Jonesboro—are all set to begin their playoffs to determine the successor to Monroe as district champions. Coach Woody Boyles' Monroe club, state champs as well for the past two years, couldn't quite make the grade this year with all the veterans gone from the titled teams.

Questions on the eligibility of players for the contending clubs were ironed out to the satisfaction of all at a meeting here yesterday afternoon with Bob Farr, state chairman of Legion baseball. At the same time, R. D. Farr, Jr., athletic officer for L. B. Laulk post of Monroe, was certified as the new district chairman. Since the death of Bob McNeely at the beginning of the season, the district had operated without an official chairman, but R. D. Farr is now ready to arry through for the club that wins the district title. And he is well qualified. A former Legion Junior player, R. D. gained valuable experience as athletic officer with the Monroe team in its jaunts to state, national regional and national sectional tournaments in the last two seasons.

Coach Loy Scarborough's Oneco Sales club of West Monroe, leader of the nine-team district in regularly scheduled play, and the Jonesboro Juniors, coached by Armed Mathews, launch the district playoffs with the first of their semi-final series tomorrow night at 3:30 p.m. at the West Monroe Playground. They'll play again Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Danville, and if a third game is necessary, West Monroe will again go to Danville to face Jonesboro Thursday.

Coach Darrell Foreman takes his Bastrop boys to Farmerville for the series opener Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, and Coach J. T. Spencer's Union parish outfit visits Bastrop for the second game Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Coaches Foreman and Spencer hadn't decided on their third game, if necessary, but it would go to Farmerville on Thursday or Friday.

Procedure in the district finals still is to be decided upon, but the champion must be certified not later than July 16.

McClendon Takes Medal Honors At Bastrop With 71

BASTROP, La., July 3 (Special)—One hundred and sixty golfers tee off here Sunday morning in the twentieth annual Kraft Paper Tournament over the Morehouse Country Club course with a favorite son of Bastrop, Harold "Red" McClendon, in the medalist role with a low qualifying score of 71.

But McClendon will be called upon to face a major hurdle in his very first match when he goes against D. P. Majors, newly crowned New Orleans city champion and a finalist in the Kraft Paper event last year.

Appearing with McClendon and Majors in the champsionship flight will be Ark Kuehn, Albert Austin, Johnny Myers, and Earl Mitchell, Bastrop; Eddie Ross, Emile Zachariah, Tommy Beard, and Harry Neese, Baton Rouge; Lamar Loe, Tallulah; Billy Stokes, Atlanta, Ga.; Bob Ledbetter and Al Gallagher, Monroe; and Billy Rawls, Crossett, Ark.

Pro-amateur teams headed by Joe Barbato, Baton Rouge professional, and L. V. Dukes, pro from Clarksdale, Miss., tied for first place in today's pro-am event with matching 63s. Zachariah, Bill Dodson and Ted Broyles were teamed with Barbato, while A. C. Abraham, Dave Bradford, and Billy Rawls teamed with Dukes.

Tied for third was the team of Milo Mattinson, Bastrop pro, with amateurs Art Kuehn, Johnny Myers, and Jim Neese, and Hogan Roundtree, El Dorado, Ark., pro, with Paul Collum, J. B. Stewart, and Tommy Beard. They had matching 64s.

Tallulah pro, Jack Findley, and his team of Roe Cagnolatti, Don Sims, and Eddie Ross, tied with the team of Ned White, Shreveport pro, and McClendon, Tommy Clarkson, and Robert Guerriero with 65s.

First round pairings for the amateur section of the tournament which will begin today and run through Monday were announced by flights as follows with starting times:

Outfielders — Grady Cathey (Southern State), Homer; Johnnie Emmons (Northwestern), Bernice; Joe Farrar (La. Tech), Bernice; Al Doggett (L. S. U.), Homer.

Catcher — Ben Carroll, Bernice.

Utility Infield — Jimmy Parker (Ark. A&M), Bernice.

U. S. Girls Claim Every Wimbledon Crown Available

WIMBLEDON, England, July 3 (AP)—American women tennis players swept every Wimbledon title available to them this rainy, soggy day which only seemed to emphasize the sorry record of the American men. The only title taken outright or shared by a U. S. male was in mixed doubles — where he got help from a girl.

Maureen Connolly, San Diego, Calif., won her third straight singles championship, defeating Louise Brough, Beverly Hills, Calif., in straight sets, 6-2, 7-5. Then Miss Brough and Mrs. Margaret DuPont, Wilmington, Del., combined to defeat Shirley Fry, Akron, Ohio, and Doris Hart, Coral Gables, Fla., for the women's doubles title, 4-6, 9-7, 6-3.

In contrast, Vic Seixas, Philadelphia, and Tony Trabert, Cincinnati, showed little as they lost in the men's doubles to a pair of grim, unsmiling Australians, Rex Hartwig and Mervyn Rose, 6-4, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4.

On Friday Jaroslav Drobny, the wandering Czech, defeated Ken Rosewall, another Australian, in four sets for the men's singles crown. It was only the second time since 1946 that a men's Wimbledon final had been played without involving an American.

Seixas also gained the final round of the mixed doubles where he and Miss Hart defeated Rosewall and Mrs. DuPont, 5-7, 6-4, 6-3.

Hacker Masters Cards On 4 Hits As Cubs Win, 4-1

CHICAGO, July 3 (AP) — Warren Hacker silenced the St. Louis Cardinals on four hits today as the Chicago Cubs scored a 4-1 victory over the Red Birds before 7,410 fans.

It was the seventh place Chicagoans' eighth win over the Cardinals in 10 games between the two teams thus far.

Duc De Fer, Blue Violin Win Twin Arlington Event

CHICAGO, July 3 (AP)—Two identical triumphs were scored in Arlington Park's double feature program today as Blue Violin soundly trounced Queen Hopeful in the $27,650 Cleopatra Handicap and Duc De Fer was a $17 winner in the $22,225 Myrtlewood Handicap.

Each winner led all the way and splashed home over a muddy track a length and a quarter ahead.

Blue Violin returned $10.40, $5.20 and $2.80 in the betting. Roman Warbler, an entry with Oil Painting, paid $6 and $2.50, while Queen Hopeful's show price was $2.40.

Duc De Fer, unbeaten in three starts as a 2-year-old, earned $13,000 for his owner and returned $17, $7.40 and $5.20. Spur On paid $6.40 and $4.20 while Happy Go Lucky's show price was $4.80.

Jack Edwards, with two for two; and McHenry, with three for three, including two doubles and a homer were the leading hitters for the winners. D. Harp had three for three, including a triple, for the losers.

Family Shoe Store downed winless Monroe Brick, 19-7, with C. Fallin and Dunn pitching, and R. Fallin behind the plate. For Monroe Brick, it was Bigger, Brown and Lewis. C. Fallin, with one for one, led the Family Shoe Store batattack; and Bigger had two for three for the losers.

Mayer Holds Edge In Motor City As Haas Falls To 6th

DETROIT, July 3 (AP)—Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla., today took a one-stroke lead in the third round of the Motor City Open.

The 29-year-old pro matched par with a 71 over the water-soaked Meadowbrook Country Club course for a 209 total, four under par.

It gave Mayer a one-stroke edge over former champion Cary Middlecoff, Memphis, Tenn., who came in with a one-under par 70 for a 210 total.

Tommy Bolt, the reformed club thrower from Houston, Tex., nailed third place with a 70 for a 211 total.

Freddie Haas, New Orleans, who entered the third round in a tie for first with Mayer, saw his putter cool and he skidded to a four over par 75 for 213.

The leaders:

Dick Mayer, St. Petersburg, Fla. 72-66-71—209

By J. P. FRIEND
Cotton States Statistician

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark., July 3 (Special) — After two month's domination the batting strangle hold of El Dorado's Frank Walenga on the 1954 Cotton States League has been broken and a new season leader moved to the top spot.

Hugh Glaze, Greenville veteran second baseman who won the swat crown with Meridian last year, manufactured a whole rash of base hits to take over the lead with a healthy .384.

In 25 official trips the Buck keystoner pounded out 11 safeties which moved his average up 10 points from .374 to .384. In 44 games since joining the Bucks Hugh has 66 connections in 172 tries.

Walenga did some cluster hitting last week but failed in three of the eight contests that cost him the favorite role he has enacted since the first week of the current race. His chart for 61 games shows 244—92 for .377. The Oiler star, though robbed of the leadership, retained four individual departments: hits, 12 home runs, 156 total bases and 66 runs batted in.

Like Walenga, Frank Shell, young Greenville catcher, went hitless in just enough contests to lose six decimals and wind up in a second place tie with Walenga. He has 191-72 for the year.

The injury jinx eliminated a contender, temporarily at least, when Jack Maupin, veteran Meridian shortstop turned up with a fractured right wrist suffered in a collision during the June 27 game with Monroe. Maupin, enjoying perhaps his greatest batting season in recent years, shows a fine .352 mace mark.

Pine Bluff's clubbing Charlie Gates went through another week in high. The Judge second baseman finished with .348, just a decimal under his last record, had his streak stopped at 10.

Hal Martin, defending homer king and slugging record holder, recovered a mild slump with a seven-point boost to .343, thanks to 26-10, including his seventh and eighth four masters.

Steve Korfonta, Hot Springs, rates next with .336, although Merrill Smith, Pine Bluff third baseman, posted the same figure.

Young Smith is off to another batting spurt. He missed getting a safety during the June 19 meeting with Meridian after racking up 15 in a row. Since then he has piled up 10 in succession. In fact, in 34 games with the Judges Smith has bagged at least one hit in all but four games. His complete record shows 137-46, with eight doubles, a triple and home run. He has batted in 29 runners, scored 24 times. His gain last week was 21 points with 29-12.

Skipper Tommy Davis, Meridian, was another regular thumper. He faced the firing line 26 times and came through with 14 hits, three of 'em doubles, that kicked up his batting average .32 points to .333.

Frank Cooper, Hot Springs, hit in all but one of nine and gained seven to .321, for the 10th rating.

Bobby Brown, El Dorado's crack lefty, took two more giant strides towards the coveted 20-game goal by whipping Hot Springs twice to boost his season record to 12-4. A fellow Oiler, Elmer Toth, failed to add to his 10 victories, suffering his third defeat, instead. Roy Jayne's ninth win was a shutout over Monroe Monday night. He has lost seven. Hal Cottle, another Miller star, has 8-2, while George Warrman, Pine Bluff, charted 7-2. Ron Coburn, Pine Bluff, and Ken Yoke, El Dorado, each have 7-3; Clyde Baldwin, El Dorado, 6-3. Beverly Gross already has copped his first four decisions for Meridian. Bill Halley (6-4), Monroe, has fanned the most, 93. Brown and Toth show 78 whiffings. Greenville leads the clubs in both departments by narrow margins: hitting .2764 to .2756 for Pine Bluff; 9606-9604 over El Dorado in fielding.

NO .300 HITTER

The Twin Cities Sports can boast no .300 hitters, and the slacking up in the batting department is costing the Sports ball games. Official averages through Tuesday showed C. J. Fontana leading Sports macemen with .283, followed by Paul Flores, .265, and Bob Norden, .263.

Other batting averages for the Sports, who are running last in team batting with a .235 average, are Sam Chetta, .257; Frank Marinkovich, .239; Chuck Forbes, .234; Herman Herzog, .220; and Jim Nissel, .170.

Entry List Grows For Pool Acquatic Events Tomorrow

The annual swimming meet at Swayze Natatorium here, scheduled for tomorrow evening, has already attracted more than 40 entries, according to Frank Savana, promoter, who said last night additional entries in all events are still being accepted in the lobby of the pool.

Fifteen events in five different age groups are on schedule for the show beginning at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and running through 7 p.m. Jack Blanks, veteran Monroe lifeguard who is now pool superintendent, will be master of ceremonies.

Awards, donated by Monroe merchants, will be presented winners in all events.

In addition to the regular events, Betsy McClanahan, Neville High School senior, who recently won his third straight state high school diving championship at Northwestern State College, Natchitoches, will appear in an exhibition of his specialty. Comic diving will also be supplied by Charles Stratford.

Cronin, Mack Vs. Dusek, Cambell In Tag Bout

Danny Dusek returns to the popular side of the ledger Tuesday night at Gus Kallio's Arena, when he and newcomer Joe Campbell meet villains Pat "Big Boy" Cronin and Paddy Mack in a feature tag team wrestling match.

Two one-fall matches, with ten minute time limits, will serve as warmups for the team members, and as preliminaries, beginning at 8:15. West Monroe garage operator Bill Barney will referee all bouts.

Absent for the first time in many moons is Indian Chief Apache, who has been a familiar main-eventer on the Tuesday mat cards.

Dusek, in his last appearance here, was Cronin's teammate, and they won tag matches on successive weeks from the Indian and Jackie Fargo—the first week with the aid of some Cronin villainy, and the second time on a backfiring Fargo block. But in both matches, it was the husky Dusek who applied the final pin to win the event.

Nothing is known about his new partner, Campbell, other than he hails from New York. However, with Cronin on the other team, it is certain that Campbell will be a favorite, along with Dusek. The latter has the size and power to adhere to all the regulations if he cares to, and can also be as villainous as they come.

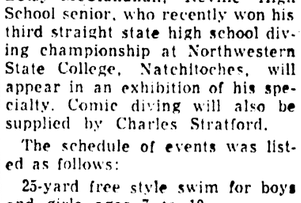
The same goes for Mack. In the number two spot on "Big Boy's" team, he is bound to wrestle as illegally as he can, and make himself very unpopular in the process.

Trojans Will Battle Southern Stars Here

The Pepsi Cola Trojans of Monroe, Negro baseball club, will meet Alex Yates' Southern Stars of Greenville, Miss., here this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at Legion Memorial Stadium.

The battery for the Trojans will be Arthur Long and "Big Shot" Jackson. Admission prices will be 80 and 35 cents.

MAN-OF-THE-WEEK



J. E. WOOD

If you don't already know this man, you should. He's the cheerful, friendly Aetna Finance manager who likes to make folks happy with extra cash any time they need it.

He is "man-of-the-week" to scores of persons who seek and benefit from his friendly money help.

"I like folks—and I want to let everyone have cash who asks for it," he said. "I am glad to invite everyone here and in nearby towns to see me if they could use $30 to $1000 cash. I'll let you have $100 cash on your name in 10 minutes. Or you can get a larger amount on your signature or other plan. Phone ahead, and I can have your money ready. Phone or see me at Aetna Finance Co., 204 N. 2nd. Ph. 3-6634."

Bucs Put End To Giants' String Of Wins, 6 To 4

PITTSBURGH, July 3 (AP)—The cellar-dwelling Pittsburgh Pirates snapped the league leading New York Giants winning streak at eight games today as the Bucs hopped on three Giant pitchers for 10 hits to win the game 6-4.

The Giants' loss, coupled with Brooklyn's victory over Philadelphia, cut New York's lead to four games.

Southpaw hurler Dick Littlefield started the game for the Pirates and was credited with the victory. His record now stands at three victories and three defeats.

The Giants used three twirlers in trying to stop the Bucs who scored three runs in the fourth frame and followed with one run each in the fifth, sixth and seventh innings.

The Giants' Willie Mays hit his 25th home run of the season in the eighth inning. The ball bounced off the clock on top of the scoreboard in left field.

Meridian Marches Over Twin Cities For 6-3 Win

Sports Tag Frank Healy For 7 Hits As Millers Get 10

MERIDIAN, Miss., July 3 (AP) — Meridian won its 11th game in its last 15 starts by scoring a 6-3 victory over Monroe Friday night in the Cotton States League.

Frank Healy struk out 13 and gave up seven hits in winning his fifth game against nine losses. Monroe scored three runs in the first two inning but never threatened after that. Three straight walks and Paul Flores' single accounted for two monroe runs in the second inning.

Meridian scored two in the bottom of the second on two walks and singles by Beans Giordanengo and Ray Rogers.

Ronnie Pittman started Meridian's four-run rally in the fourth with a two-run homer. The other two runs came on an error, a single by Gene Pompelia and a double by Wendy Forbes.

Babe Easily Wins National Women's Open By 12 Blows

PEABODY, Mass., July 3 (AP)—The ever-astonishing Babe Zaharias, told 15 months ago she might never play again, climaxed one of the most stirring comebacks in sports today when she won her third Women's National Open golf championship by 12 stokes.

Front running all the way but tiring at the end of the final day's 36-hole grind, the tall, sinewy daughter of Texas finished with rounds of 73 and 75 for a total score of 291.

None other in the fancy feminine field came close to cracking 300 for the three days over the exhausting 6,393-yard Salem country club course.

It was the Babe's tournament from the moment she posted an even par 72 on opening day until she hacked out on the woods on the final hole, threw her hat high in air and exclaimed:

"Thank goodness, it's over. I couldn't have gone another hole. But it's the answer to my prayers."

Unheralded Betty Hicks, Durham, N.C., the 1941 National Amateur champion before turning pro, wound up in second place—never a serious contender—with 303. She had 75 and 77 for her final 36 holes.

Serious Louise Suggs, Atlanta, a two-time winner of this event and long one of the Babe's keenst rivals, followed at 307.

The defending champion, Betsy Rawls, Spartansburg, S.C., soared to last day rounds of 78 and 80 to finish at 308, tied there with 19-year-old Mary (Mickey) Wright, the leading amateur.

Miss Wright, a tall blonde Stanford University sophomore, played the final 36 holes with Mrs. Zaharias and made a hit with everybody by shooting 79 and 76. "She's a real comer," said the Babe.

Persley Wins 5th In Row With Nod Over French Foe

The Associated Press scorecard had Persley in front, 8-2.

It was the fifth straight victory for the 30-year-old veteran and his 17th in his last 18 fights. Khalfi had upset featherweight champion Sandy Saddler in New York last May but he was not in the same class with the heavier and finely conditioned Persley.

The broad-shouldered, thin-legged Persley took command in the very first round when he rocked the fleet-footed, 26-year-old Frenchman with a flashing left and right combination to the jaw. Kahlfi held on and then backed away from the pressing Persley.

That was the closest either came to scoring a knockdown.

Determine Defeated By Outsider, Fault Free, At Inglewood

INGLEWOOD, Calif., July 3 (AP)—Kentucky Derby champion Determine suffered defeat and a fearful blow to his prestige today when an outsider, Fault Free, won the $55,900 Westerner before 45,500 astonished fans at Hollywood Park.

Jockey Ralph Neves brought Fault Free in first in a photo finish over Allied, the stablemate of Determine. Determine, the little gray charger, was third.

Fault Free paid $20.90, $3.40 and $2.70; and Allied $2.10 and $3.10. Determine's show price was $2.10.

Bucky M'Elroy Accepts Bid To All-Star '11'

HATTIESBURG, Miss., July 3 (AP)—Bucky McElroy, Mississippi Southern's 200-pound fullback from Monroe, La., said today he has accepted a bid to play with the College All-Stars against the Detroit Lions' pro champions in the Aug. 13 all-star game at Chicago.

McElroy, a little All-America who gained 2,554 yards in three seasons, is an all-around player who punted, passed, converted and played defense in key games.

Matthews, Cockell Matched Third Time

SEATTLE, July 3 (AP)—Deacon Jack Hurley announced today arrangements have been completed for a July 30 bout here between British empire heavyweight champion Don Cockell and Seattle's Harry (Kid) Matthews—their third meeting in less than a year.

Both previous times, in Seattle last August and in London June 1, Cockell narrowly decisioned Hurley's fighter.

High Gun Fights Off Palm Tree To Win Dwyer Stakes

NEW YORK, July 3 (AP)—King Ranch's High Gun won the $57,400 Dwyer Stakes in a close finish with Greentree stable's Palm Tree today before 29,128 fans at Aqueduct. Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Paper Tiger was third in the field of five 3-year-olds.

Jockey Eric Guerin, who rode High Gun to victory in the Belmont Stakes in his last start, had a tight hold on the colt for the first mile of this mile and one quarter race and then turned hm loose on the pace-setting Palm Tree. They fought it out all the way to the finish with High Gun winning by a length.

The winner, a leading candidate for 3-year-old honors this year, was the odds on favorite although he carried 126 pounds against 114 on all the others.

High Gun paid $3.10 and $2.20 with no show betting allowed due to the small field. Palm Tree paid $2.50 to place. The winner was timed in 2:05 on a fast track and earned $39,300 for his owner, Robert J. Kleberg of King Ranch which won this race with Assault in 1946.

Sees Daughter In New Orleans After Ordeal In Mental Hospital

Woman Illegally Confined 19 Years Is Freed

NEW ORLEANS July 3—UP—A gray-haired 61-year-old woman, who spent the past 19 years illegally confined in several Michigan mental institutions, came here today for "a new life" with a daughter who didn't remember her.

"You can say that I'm the happiest woman in New Orleans—no, in the world today," said Mrs. Louise Hartway, who won her hard-earned freedom yesterday when Circuit Judge Lila M. Neuenfelt ruled at Detroit she had been committed without sufficient evidence.

Mrs. Hartway, who was committed to mental institutions as the result of an argument over debt owed her, boarded a plane in Detroit last night and arrived here early today. Before leaving, she expressed hopes of finding her daughter whom she hadn't seen since 1935.

The daughter, Mrs. June Cassidy recalled that this was virtually the first time she has ever seen her mother. She was just five years old when Mrs. Hartway was committed.

"I picked up the phone this morning and a voice said, 'June this is your mother. I'm at the airport'," Mrs. Cassidy said. "I was so young, I don't remember my mother at all—so this is really the first time I've seen her."

Mrs. Cassidy said she was reared by a grandmother in New Orleans and until a few years ago she did not know her mother was a mental hospital inmate.

"I wanted it that way," said Mrs. Hartway, a divorcee who once lived here before going to Detroit. "There is such a stigma attached to that sort of thing."

Mrs. Hartway's freedom is the result of a fight to seek aid that began shortly after she was committed and lasted until yesterday.

"At first I couldn't get pencil and paper to write," she recalled. "I remember well the first thing I managed to get out was a 10,000-word story of the irregularities in my case that I wrote with a pencil I sharpened with my teeth."

Through the years, she said, she appealed her case to doctors, lawyers, hospital officials—all in vain. Then she composed a writ of habeas corpus while a patient at Northville State hospital and sent it to Judge Neuenfelt.

Judge Neuenfelt called the writ "in perfect legal order" and directed that an attorney be provided for Mrs. Hartway and re-examined the case.

In her ruling, she said there was no court testimony from the examining doctors at the time of the women's commitment, but only affidavits saying Mrs. Hartway had a persecution complex and was irrational. She ordered the woman freed.

Mrs. Hartway, a cheerful, youthful looking woman despite her years and ordeal, was arrested in 1935 during an argument over a debt owed her. She was committed after observation at a receiving hospital.

Through her 19 years, she said, she saw and heard things that were beyond description.

"At Northville," she said, "I was put in with patients so helpless they had to be fed. I was sane when I was confined to the hospital, but later there were times I was afraid I was going insane."

Mrs. Hartway, who once made an unsuccessful bid for a seat on the Detroit city council, said all she wants to do now is forget it.

"I just want to be with my people and keep busy," she said.

GUNMAN'S BODY REMOVED AFTER BATTLE—Police officers who engaged Howard Ellis in a 2 1/2 hour gun battle look on as an ambulance crew carries his body from his home in Indianapolis in which 3 officers finally shot him to death. Americans Revisit Nation's Shrines On Holiday

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Once again, on this 178th Independence Day, Americans rededicate the shrines and battlefields hallowed by the struggles of their fiercely independent forefathers.

This year, though, there are new and frightening things in the world to think about as the parade goes by—such things as hydrogen bombs and smoldering little wars or near-wars from Indochina to Guatemala.

The three-day weekend, which lasts through Monday since the fourth falls on Sunday, meant a pleasant holiday in the mountains, at lakes or seashores for many millions. The weather was generally hot and fair.

Highways and railroad terminals jammed up Friday afternoon in big cities. Many railroads ran special trains.

At Valley Forge, not far away, where George Washington's tattered Revolutionary army wintered at its lowest ebb in the War for Independence, acting Gov. Charles E. Johns of Florida speaks.

At Washington monument in the capital, fireworks displays will light the upturned faces of thousands of watchers on July 5. Many persons make a special trip for the spectacle.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower are spending a quiet week end at Camp David, the presidential retreat in the Catoctin mountains of Maryland.

Boston's Common, one of the cradles of the War for Independence, resounds to a mammouth fireworks display on the Fourth. And at the old statehouse, now a museum, the Declaration of Independence is read by an honor student from Boston Latin School, the oldest school in the country.

Gen. George C. Marshall speaks at the 200th anniversary celebration of the battle of Fort Necessity near Uniontown, Pa., where the French and Indian War began.

Californians in the Los Angeles area can see a tremendous fireworks show at the 103,000-seat Memorial Coliseum Sunday night. Another big show will be staged Monday night at Pasadena's Rose Bowl, with 80,000 persons expected.

The traditional Fourth of July celebrations in Texas are rodeos and cowboy reunions. The rodeo at Belton, Tex., one of the oldest of these gatherings, will see all four candidates for governor speaking Monday.

More than 12,000 Indians came to Flagstaff, Ariz., for three nights of ceremonials. Daytime parades and rodeos also feature this 72-year-old celebration.

Detroit planned a 40-car train loaded with relief and rehabilitation supplies—from aspirin tablets to trucks and tractors—as a gift for Korea. Tyo Wook Han, Korea's minister plenipotentiary to the United States and United Nations delegate, will accept the "Train for Korea."

The once-sizeable toll of children injured by explosives has been virtually stopped. The sale of fireworks for individual use has been outlawed almost everywhere. Each year, however, produced a few scattered cases of death or injury from contraband fireworks.

The big fireworks displays are carefully supervised and authorized by local authorities.

A new annual death toll arose, however, as the years went by. The National Safety Council predicted 430 deaths from traffic accidents over the weekend throughout the nation.

Camps Established For Red Subversives Filled With Prison Overflow

WASHINGTON, July 3—UP—Two of five camps established by the Bureau of Prisons to detain dangerous subversives in case of war with Russia are being used to house an overflow federal prsion population, it was learned Saturday.

The population is at an all-time high of 20,163.

The camps in use are Allenwood, Pa., and Florence, Ariz. They are among a series of abandoned Army posts taken over by the prisons bureau after enactment of the McCarran Communist control law in 1950.

The law authorized the government to round up dangerous Communists and subversives in event of war with the Soviet Union.

The other camps are at Avon Park, Fla., Tula Lake, Calif., and Wickenburg, Ariz. Each is in charge of a care-taker.

It is now known how many persons would be rounded up if war should break but bureau officials said they could accommodate almost any number. The camps can be enlarged easily.

The FBI presumably would be responsible for conducting the roundup since it is charged with preserving the nation's internal security.

The FBI arrested 1,771 dangerous alien Germans and Japanese before nightfall on Dec. 8, the day after the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. During the entire war it apprehended 16,062 aliens. Of these, 3,200 were deemed dangerous enough to be interned.

In World War I, the FBI did not have the authority, as it does now, to take action against American citizens who were working on behalf of a foreign power.

Six million people are buried in the catacombs of Rome.

Price Supports For Cottonseed Products Given

WASHINGTON July 3—UP—The Agriculture Department has announced prices it will pay for cottonseed oil, cake or meal, and linters under a previously announced 1954-crop cottonseed price support program.

It will buy the products from crushers who agree to pay ginners not less than $54 a ton for cottonseed. The product prices range from 12.75 cents to 13.25 cents a pound for cottonseed oil; 2.75 cents to 2.90 cents a pound for cake or meal; and three cents to 11 cents a pound for linters depending on grade.

THE BACK-PEDALLING SNOOSE

can't see where he's going because he's so in love with where he's been

The SNOOSE is a cautious manufacturer who pedals backward to keep his eye on where he's been. Naturally he can't see where he's going.

He would rather linger over his tiny past successes than feast on big future ones. And if his advertising methods are out-of-date, so what? They've been safe so far, haven't they?

Fortunately the SNOOSE is rare. Most manufacturers look ahead to increasing sales.

They know that the best way to sell more products is to convince more people. And, since all business is local, they advertise in newspapers . . . because only the newspaper reaches just about everybody in town.

They know that when the newspaper moves into the living room, the family devours the news and the ads with equal enthusiasm.

No wonder manufacturers increased their newspaper advertising 12.8% in 1953* — an all-time record.

All business is local . . . and so are all newspapers!

Hike In National Debt Limit To Be Asked Of Solons

WASHINGTON, July 3 (UP)—The administration is expected to take its national debt limit problem to Congress again within the next week or so, it was learned Saturday.

Turned down last year when it pleaded for a $15 billion increase in the $275 billion ceiling, the Treasury so far has drawn up no specific new request. But its staff is calculating how much government borrowing must be done during the 1955 fiscal year just begun, on the basis of new tax and appropriations bills.

These calculations will be the basis for negotiations with congressional leaders very soon.

The problem is this: The government right now is $270 billion in debt. During the next six months, when tax collections sink to their normal end-of-the-year low, the Treasury will have to borrow possibly $10 billion to pay its current bills. The present $275 billion debt limit allows for only $5 billion.

More than this is already on the books, however. It is obviously out of the question for the Treasury to default on its bills, or violate the legal ceiling.

The Treasury feels that the only acceptable solution is a higher ceiling. Its top command has stated several times recently that Congress will have to hike the limitation.

For example, Congress might rewrite the rules to permit the debt to rise above the limit during the fiscal year, as long as it is under at year end, on June 30. Or, Congress might exempt certain types of government borrowing from the debt limitation—specially the tens of billions borrowed from social security and other federal trust funds, or the fewer billions borrowed from taxpayers in advance of tax dates and written off as tax credit when due.

The Treasury contends that these alternatives force irregular bookkeeping and might tend to conceal the actual size of the debt.

Pleads Guilty To Attempted Murder

SHREVEPORT July 3—UP— A 38-year-old ex-convict, who wounded a Shreveport policeman in a running gun battle June 20, has pleaded guilty to charges of attempted murder and simple burglary.

Luther R. Talley entered the pleas before Judge James Galloway in Caddo district criminal court. Talley, who spent 15 of the last 22 years in prison, faces possible sentence of 20 years on the attempted murder charge and nine years on the simple burglary offense.

Talley was arrested after he wounded Kenneth Lanigan during an attempted burglary.

3 New Parishes For Catholics

..NEW ORLEANS July 3—UP—The Chancery office of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of New Orleans has announced the creation of three new parishes and 27 new appointments effective next Thursday.

The new parishes and their first pastors are St. Mary Goretti parish, Little Woods, La., the Rev. James J. Skelly; St. Gabriel's parish, Gentilly Wood, the Rev. Preston J. Marquette and St. John Vianney parish, Arabi, La., the Rev. John Pregenser.

Passengers Unhurt As Planes Collide

LONDON, July 3—UP—A British Overseas Airways Constellation and an Air France DC-4, loaded with a total of 89 passengers, collided on the main runway at London airport Saturday, but nobody was injured.

The Sydney-bound constellation's starboard rudder was damaged and its 60 passengers had to delay their takeoff 24 hours. The left wingtip of the Air France plane struck the BOA plane, but it was not damaged and took off for Paris with 29 passengers.

Air Recruiters To Open Offices In Reserve Building

Sgts. Johnnie Black and Bobby Wilbanks, U. S. Air Force recruiters for this area, announced yesterday that their office will be moved to new quarters at the Air Force Reserve building, North Seventh street and Louisville avenue, on July 12.

Until July 12, however, the Air Force recruiters will remain at their present quarters in room 217, Post Office building, Monroe.

The move, the recruiters explained, is in conjunction with the recent separation of the Army and Air Force.

They explained that the Air Force is now "wide open for enlistments," including the aviation cadet and observer training programs. The Air Force also offers personnel 223 technical training schools, they said.

Any person between 17 and 34-years-old, who can pass the physical and mental tests and is interested in enlistment in the Air Force should contact either Sgt. Black or Sgt. Wilbanks for further information.

Luck Keeps Negro Alive—And Free

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 3 (AP)—Jim Stafford's luck kept him both alive and out of jail today after he started a 4th of July celebration.

Patrolman J. C. Padgett reported the 29-year-old Negro got drunk and passed out on the Atlantic Coast Line tracks. The locomotive and two cars of a train passed over his body but Stafford escaped without a scratch.

He was hauled off to court on charges of drunkenness and trespassing.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

GOING TO THE RIVER? Or GOING ON THE HIGHWAYS?

If it's to the river all you'll need is paddle and a leak-proof boat.

But on our fast moving highways you have to be in a safe car. Keep yours that way with regular trips to our service department.

Minor tune ups avoid MAJOR ones. You will be pleased with our service, our mechanics are trained and have factory equipment to do the work quickly and with as small of cost to our customers as possible.

Belah Methodist Church To Have Its Homecoming

JENA, La. (Special) — "A great day is anticipated Sunday, July 4, when Belah Methodist church observes its annual homecoming," Sidney Taylor, program chairman, announced this week.

There will be the regular morning services, with the Rev. G. A. Prichard bringing the message, an old-fashioned dinner on the ground at the noon hour, and a special praise service, the theme of which will be "Memories of Yesterday," in the afternoon.

The Rev. A. N. Baum is pastor of Belah Methodist church which, along with Eden church, constitutes a new charge in the Louisiana Methodist conference. Rev. Baum is the first pastor to be assigned to the new charge which was established at the last annual conference.

In addition to the Revs. Prichard and Baum, others listed on the printed program are Mr. Taylor program chairman and congregational song director; Lonnie Evans, opening song leader; Shirley Evans and Ruth Strozier, pianists, David Strozier, worship service song leader, and G. L. Winsham, morning scripture reading.

The services will begin at 10 a.m., with the opening song and scripture reading, followed by a period of congregational singing and special arrangements. There will be a 20-minute recess at 11 a.m., followed by the morning worship service beginning at 11:20 a.m., including a hymn, prayer, offering for the cemetery and sermon by Rev. Prichard, with benediction by Rev. Baum.

Following the noon meal on the church grounds, there will be an hour - long program of congregational singing and special arrangements, beginning at 1:15 p.m., with the praise service scheduled to begin at 2:15 p.m. Benediction is scheduled for 2:40 p.m., with additional singing to follow for those who wish to remain.

Columbian Group Moves To Tyler

A Monroe fuel corporation, offices located in the Ouachita Bank Building, is moving its division office to Tyler, Tex., according to reports here yesterday.

The Columbian Fuel Corporation, a subsidiary of the Southern Carbon Company, transferred the Southern Carbon Company, was reported to be planning to step up exploratory drilling in the east Texas field, hence the move.

The division office at Tyler will continue to supervise operations in the Monroe district, which embraces all of north Louisiana and southern Arkansas, as well as the east Texas district.

J. K. Brothers, division land manager, has already moved his family to Tyler.

ITALIAN TILES

Some of the earliest clay tiles ever set in Italy were used in the 14th century to adorn the alstar step riser in the upper church of St. Francis at Assisi.

Three-Day Sale Here Declared 'One Of The Best'

The chairman of the retail merchant's division of the Monroe-West Monroe Chamber of Commerce, David G. Silverstein, late Saturday said the three-day sale had been "one of the best we ever had" and expressed the pleasure of all merchants over the results. The sale began Thursday and continued through Saturday.

Speaking in behalf of merchants in the participating area, Silverstein expressed thanks to all persons who had made the sale "so successful" both by participation and by "the unusual amount of patience which was displayed in the large crowds."

Silverstein reiterated a previous announcement that the businesshouses of the Twin Cities will remain closed Monday in observance of the holiday. "We are closing for an extra day in order to give the many persons employed an additional day for rest or recreation, as they desire."

July Fourth

On the Fourth of July and all summer long, the water offers a refreshing pastime whether swimming, fishing, or surf riding, it is the center of summer fun.

Shown above is Billy Turpin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Turpin waiting by their dock at 302 Country Club Road to take his cousins, Dottie and Frederick Amman for a boat ride. Also in the boat is Holland Collins of New Orleans, a guest of the Ammans, and watching them leave is Becky Huenefeld.

MISS ALMA LUCILLE FORDE'S forthcoming marriage to Charles Gwin, son of Mrs. George Harrington and the late Mr. Homer Gwin, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Cayce Forde. The wedding is planned for July 24 at the First Methodist Church in Monroe.

Informal Outings Provide Holiday Entertainment Here

Patio parties and Fourth of July outings on the Ouachita will provide gaiety and pleasure for Monroyans celebrating the holiday week-end. Among those entertaining informally this afternoon are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Davenport who are hosting the Wednesday bridge club's annual barbecue and Mr. and Mrs. James A. Noe who are giving a boat ride on "Noe's Ark" for their daughter, Linda, who arrived home in June from Miss Beard's School in Orange, N.J.

The patio of the Davenport's home on Bayou DeSiard will be the setting for bridge, horse shoe pitching and water activities.

Later in the evening, the Wednesday club and their guests will be served a barbecue supper.

Members of the club enjoying the annual party are in addition to the hosts: Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Adams; Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Jordan; Mr. and Mrs. Foster Wallace; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rhymes; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McSherry; Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCue, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hinkle.

Halbach-Ramagos Marriage Vows Said In Tallulah

TALLULAH. At the First Baptist Church here on Saturday afternoon Miss Carolyn Ramagos, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cleburn Ramagos exchanged marriage vows with Mr. Herbert Boone Halbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe D. Halbach of Tallulah. The Rev. Irvin Cheney officiated at the impressive double ring ceremony.

Vows were spoken before a white arch entwined with asparagus fern and at either side stood tall white baskets filled with white gladioli and stock. In the background Cathedral candles burned in graduated floor standards and extending across the chancel were low arrangements of magnolia blossoms and foliage.

Mrs. Edwin Courtney at the organ accompanied Miss Helen Logue who sang, "Because" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

Mrs. Edsel Elledge, wearing a formal of deep purple net over taffeta, served her sister as matron of honor. She carried a fan shaped bouquet of orchid colored maline and vanda orchids and wore a matching headdress. The bridesmaids, Miss Annette Smith, Miss Joyce Powell, Miss Elizabeth Rabb and Miss Patsy Murphy, wore identical dresses of orchid colored net over tafteta and carried fan shaped purple bouquets with clusters of vanda orchids and wore matching flowers in their hair.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was radiantly lovely in her wedding gown of white satin designed with V shaped neck line, lace bodice, long fitted sleeves and full skirt that ended in a regal train. Her fingertip veil fell from a tiara of lace and seed pearls and she carried a fan shaped bouquet of lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid.

Mr. Joe D. Halbach served his son as best man and the groomsmen were J. O. Pemberton, Bobby Antley, Johnny Halbach, brothers of the groom.

Mrs. Ramagos, mother of the bride, was attired in navy lace and Mrs. Halbach, the groom's mother wore ice blue lace. Both had corsages of vanda orchids. Mrs. Boone, the groom's grandmother was dressed in gray chiffon with which she wore a white corsage.

A reception was held in the church parlors which were decorated with white flowers. The refreshment table with its white organdy cover was centered with an arrangement of carnations, calla lilies and stock. Mrs. Ira Hugh Ervin and Mrs. Cline Elledge served punch from crystal bowls at either end and were assisted by the tea girls, Miss Bobbie Jo Antley, Miss Helen Logue and Miss Helen Diamond. Mrs. Billy Finlayson served the four tiered wedding cake surmounted with lilies of the valley and Miss Bobbie Parker presided at the bride's book. Background music was played by Mrs. Courtney.

When the couple left for a trip to Florida the bride was wearing a brown cotton suit with which she wore pink accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Halbach are graduates of the Tallulah High School. She attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute and he received his degree in physical education at Northeast State College in Monroe. They will reside in Tallulah where Mr. Halbach is assistant coach at Tallulah High School.

A large number of out of town visitors were in attendance at the wedding.

MR. AND MRS. FRANK ALLEN SWAYZE

Miss Simmons Is Bride Of Frank Swayze

Miss Peggy Ruth Simmons became the bride of Frank Allen Swayze in a beautiful candlelight ceremony performed at the Sterlington Baptist Church. Dr. T. J. Welch officiated in the impressive double ring ceremony.

The church chancel, banked with sprays of glossy magnolia leaves interspersed with magnolia blossoms, formed the background for a myriad of cathedral tapers in branched wrought iron candelabra entwined with English ivy. Floor baskets of white gladiola adorned each end of the altar. The family pews were marked with a single magnolia blossom tied with a large white satin bow.

Mrs. Juan Jordan presented the nuptial music and accompanied Miss Irma Grace Stevens as she sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly." For the benediction Mr. Billy Joe Milstead sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a waltz length white lace and net over taffeta wedding gown fashioned with a fitted bodice and high standing collar. The long fitted sleeves came to points over her wrists. She wore a finger - tip veil of illusion and carried a white orchid bouquet surrounded by lilies of the Nile and white satin streamers mounted on a white Bible.

Miss Gail Simmons, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a waltz length gown of blue nylon net over taffeta fashioned with a fitted bodice and sweetheart neckline and matching shoes and bandeau. Her bouquet was of Esther Read Daisies which matched her dress.

The bridesmaids, Miss Joyce Garrett and Miss Joan Amos, were dressed identically like the maid of honor, but carried bouquets of a delicate pink.

The best man was Maxey Swayze, brother of the groom. Ushers were Zeke Williams and Charles Anderson, who, also, served as candle lighters.

A reception followed in the recreation hall of the church. The center of attraction was the lace covered table on which was placed the tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and broom. Single tapers in tall holders and the maids bouquets were the only decoration on the table.

The serving table overlaid with a linen cutwork cloth was centered by an arrangement of gardenias and white tapers. Opposite the punch bowl was a large tray holding miniature brides cakes.

Mrs. Edmund Carter presided at the punch bowl. Misses Frances and Mary Virginia Swayze assisted in serving. The wedding cake was served by Mrs. Faye Raney, Mrs. Donna Faye Flemming presided at the guest book.

Rehearsal Supper

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Simmons, parents of the bride, entertained members of the wedding party at a rehearsal supper at a local restaurant. The tables were adorned with arrangements of shasta daisies.

The bride and groom chose this occasion to present their attendants with gifts of jewel boxes and cuff links.

Enjoying this occasion with the hosts and bridal couple were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Swayze; Miss Gail Simmons, Miss Joyce Garrett, Miss Joan Amos, Mr. Maxey Swayze, Mr. Charles Anderson, Mr. Zeke Williams, Miss Irma Grace Stevens, Mr. Billy Joe Milstead, Mr. and Mrs. Juan Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Carter, Mrs. T. J. Welch.

My Answer

By BILLY GRAHAM

QUESTION: "I am engaged to a young man of whom I am very fond; but just lately I have begun to have doubts. It seems that a great many men are not faithful to their wives. How can I know that mine will be faithful to me?" A.S.

ANSWER: You say that many men are not faithful to their wives. In so far as that is true, it could equally well be said that many wives are not faithful to their husbands.

I mention this fact because while you have doubts about your fiance's faithfulness in days to come, you appear to have none about your own!

Perhaps you tell me that you are sure of your love for him. Are you not also sure of his love for you and can you not trust him?

If your answer to that question is Yes, then I urge you to banish all doubts from your mind. It is important that you should both enter upon your marriage in a spirit of mutual love and confidence.

Above all, commit your married life to God for His blessing. That is what matters in the end. "The blessing of the Lord maketh rich." Resolve before Him that you will take your vows seriously and seek His strength to fulfill them. Pray together daily. A marriage hallowed by the Presence of Christ need not be haunted by the fear of unfaithfulness.

PLAN WOMAN'S DAY PROGRAM

Rev. P. C. Keal, pastor of the First Baptist (colored) church announces that the senior mission is to sponsor a woman's day program July 11 at 11 a.m. All members are invited.

DR. BRUCE LOWE

Dr. Lowe Will Be Featured At Baptist Session

Dr. Bruce W. Lowe, vice president of Louisiana College, will be the featured speaker at the district three Baptist Pastor's conference Monday. The meeting will begin at 10:00 a.m. in the Cleft Rock Baptist Church of Monroe where Rev. Glenn B. Wright is the pastor. Dr. Lowe has been in his present position for about six months. He is a graduate of Louisiana College and of the New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary. He will tell something of the great building and improvement program now in progress at Louisiana College which is owned and operated by the Louisiana Baptist Convention and was the first college in the state to be accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Universities, a high standard crediting agency. The meetings will be presided over by Rev. A. T. Mitchell, president of the conference. Dr. Tommy Welch, of Sterlington will bring an exposition on the scriptures at the meeting. According to Rev. O. P. Bazer, secretary, a large number of pastors are expected to be present from the Twin City, Bastrop and Columbia areas. Lunch will be served by the host church.

Central Baptist Pleased To Aid Drive-In Revival

Open-air revival services will be conducted by the Central Baptist Church on the Columbia highway at the drive-in beginning on Monday night, July 5 and continuing through Sunday night, July 11. Rev. H. B. Dean, pastor of the Good Hope Baptist Church of West Monroe will be the evangelist and Charles Wood of Central Church will lead the singing. Services will begin each night at 8 o'clock.

Central Baptist Church is interested in eventually establishing a Baptist church in that area. For several months Rev. W. H. Maxwell has been conducting Tuesday night meetings and many people in that area have manifested an interest in establishing a church.

The group will separate as a mission of Central Church and has chosen the name "Fellowship Baptist Mission." As soon as property can be secured and a building erected, it will proceed with further organization.

The evangelist committee in charge of evangelism of the mission work is as follows: Fred Salley, chairman; W. E. Bennet, Roy Jones, and Rev. W. H. Maxwell who is superintendent of the mission.

A cordial invitation is extended to the general public and particularly the people in the area of Richwood road and Columbia highway to attend these meetings.

Trenton Assn. To Consider Missions In Church Meet

The Trenton Association Women's Missionary Union will have its executive meeting at Fairpark Baptist Church Wednesday July 7 at 10 a.m. Lunch will be served at the time of noon adjournment by the host church.

Mrs. M. L. Guraedy will render a devotional on stewardship. Mrs. F. A. Brown, president, urges all officers to attend.

These churches will be represented: Bethel, Brownville, Calhoun, Center Point, Chenicre, Clark Springs, Cypress, Edgewood, Fairpark, Good Hope Liberty, McClendon, Mt. Vernon, New Chapel Hill, Oak Grove, Peniel, Ridge Avenue and Trinity.

Church Of God To Hold Revival Series

The Monroe Church of God, 800 Georgia Street, Rev. I. M. McClendon, pastor, announces a revival to start Monday night.

Rev. H. L. Mobley, pastor of the Church of God, Alexandria, will speak each night.

The public is cordially invited to all services.

For an inexpensive summer buffet, serve grilled frankfurters with macaroni and cheese and a salad. The salad might be one of tomatoes and cucumbers, cabbage and carrot slaw, or tossed greens.

Bible Words for Today

JOHN 15:11 — "These things have I spoken unto you that my joy might be in you, and that your joy might be full."

• • •

Christianity is a religion of life, love, hope, and also of happiness — deep, abiding happiness. Here Jesus summarizes all that He had spoken and the sum is fullness of joy.

Christianity is an overcoming religion — life overcomes death. It is a religion of love — love overcomes hate. It is a religion of hope — hope overcomes pessimism. Now life, love, and hope become a great reservoir from which Christian joy bubbles forth.

This joy is so practical. It overcomes the negative destructive forces like "nerves", "fears", and "the long face". Experience teaches that a long face shortens your list of friends. A Christian should be a veritable force of optimism. His smiling face should be a testimony that Christ lives in his heart.

The Presbyterian Men's Clubs of the Memorial Church of West Monroe and Covenant and First Presbyterian of Monroe are planning a united worship service in the Memorial Presbyterian Church in West Monroe for 7 p.m. July 4.

While this worship is sponsored by the Men's Clubs of the three Presbyterian Churches, it is open to the entire membership of the churches and their friends. An outstanding layman has been secured to bring a message on "The Churchman's Responsibility for Integrity and Honor in Government." It is the feeling of the men responsible for this program that the lay sermon dealing with this matter will be as timely for the women as the men in a day when women vote and hold office in government as well as men.

The presidents of the three units of Presbyterian Men are as follows: D. W. Slay, president, Men of the First Presbyterian Church; S. W. McLean, president, Men of the Covenant Presbyterian Church; and M. L. Hargus, president of Men of the Memorial Presbyterian Church. By the national charter for Men's Club work in Presbyterian Churches, every male member is automatically a part of the men's work. It is the hope of the leaders that every man in each congregation will be able to attend this united religious, political meeting on July 4.

The Memorial Presbyterian Church is completely air-conditioned and will furnish a comfortable place for this Pan-Presbyterian convocation.

Music will be furnished by men's voices of the three churches who will be able to come to a choir rehearsal at the Memorial Church on Thursday, July 1. Advance information indicates that the program of music will be enriched by special numbers including an anthem and men's quartet. The public is invited. It is important that those desiring to hear the lay sermon come early.

THE HOME SHIFT—

Soak Garden To Save Azaleas

Glancing back over the "Shifts" for the last three summers, I note the prevalence of words drouth and watering. Scientists just have not brought the weather under control as they have insects. The nearest thing to control is the soaker or the sprinkler.

Around the Yard

If you failed to transplant your bearded iris in the spring, you can do that job now. Work bone meal in the soil, about one-fourth cup to each plant. Plant the bulb on a small hill and spread the roots. Cut off dead tops in a fan shape. Of course you'll have to keep these watered.

You can prune your climbing roses, now, cutting out dead wood. Leave the new shoots because those will bear your blossoms next spring.

You can still plant cosmos, sweet alysum, ageratum, four-o-clock, balsam, marigold, petunia, torenia, belles of Ireland and zinnias. Plant in permanent beds and thin later.

Cut your dahlias back to about half their growth after the first crop of blooms. They will grow and produce another crop of blooms.

All those early blooming narcissus, jonquils and daffodils that you plan to transplant can be moved this month. It's a hot job, but nevertheless, this is the time.

I've talked to at least six gardeners this morning who are having trouble with azaleas dying. They say the plants seem to be burning up. In every case the plants were either close to a brick wall or concrete walks or steps. The brick and concrete get very hot during the day and continue generating heat all night. Cooling off the wall or walk with water late in the afternoon will help save the azaleas. Make a note to move these next winter.

Camellias and azaleas are setting bloom buds now. Be careful the plants don't get too dry, as this will cause the buds to dry up. Also, don't water often. Soak when you water, then wait until the ground begins to dry out under the mulch. We don't want to put on a lot of new growth this late. Too many gardeners are still watering every afternoon and not soaking at all. The mulch helps to hold the moisture. One garden writer said, "Nothing since the advent of nylon and the zipper has given me so much delight — and leisure—as mulch."

Around the Twin Cities

New one-year gardens that are showing to advantage are the Julius Irving, 1010 Civic, Monroe; the N. Klam, Point Drive, Monroe; Mrs. Alfred Brin, Point Drive, Monroe. All three gardeners say they read and follow Extension recommendations as set forth in this column. Mr. Irving's garden is not only a new one, he is a new gardener. He has wisely used annuals to fill in vacancies until the shrubs grow larger.

Home Freezers

Here are some first aid suggestions to be used for home freezers in case of a power failure. If the power is to be off only a few hours, just don't open the freezer and everything will be all right. However, if the trouble will last more than three or four hours, use dry ice. Find ahead of time the nearest source of this ice. A fifty-pound cake is enough to protect the average size freezer up to 36 hours. Saw or chop the cake into pieces suitable for the size of the storage compartments. Cover the packages of foods with boards, and place the dry ice on these — not directly on the food.

Velvet is one of the top fashions. Little velvet summer hats promise to be a real style leader. The designers are busy turning them out in all sizes, shapes, and colors. Black is a big favorite, but you'll see these in yellow, violet, raspberry, pink, silver gray, tangerine and white. Matching velvet gloves give a chick look. When I mention violet, a picture of Louise Gresham Lee comes to mind. This is her favorite color and wisely so because she's lovely in the violet shades.

1954 is seeing the revival of a number of fashions of the past. Tunics are new again. We wore those in 1918 so they're something old that's new to many of us.

For finishing the summer, pastel—checked ginghams are shown often for afternoon wear. There are some very smart dark checked ones for daytime town wear. Some are sequin trimmed and dressy enough for any summer party.

I am hoping Mr. Taylor from North Louisiana Experiment Station will be with me on TV Tuesday to tell you how to buy a watermelon.

See you next Sunday.

Garden Leader 4-H Club Holds Fairbanks Meet

Mrs. Clyde Bradford, garden leader of the Fairbanks Home Demonstration Club, very ably discussed the importance of the fall garden for this late season. Mrs. Edward Sackett, flower and landscape leader, gave special advice on the upkeep of St. Augustine grass, which she says needs a great deal of care during the hot months, plenty of water and to avoid cutting too closely. Blighted rose bushes should be cut back below the disease, in order to save the bushes. The season is right for taking up bulbs — this activity can be done as late as August.

Mrs. O. J. Ham presented a letter on citizenship, representing the family life division.

A demonstration on cake icing was given by Mrs. Ernest Dupuis. She selected caramel philly frosting for this demonstration, which was used on a "spice" cake and served to the group.

During the business session, Mr Clyde Bradford, vice-president presided. Mrs. Jack Williams led in the club collect. Plans for sending delegates to the short course in Baton Rouge were discussed. Mrs. Lee Morgan and Mrs. Edward Sackett will represent the club at the home management leader program to be held at the Agriculture Building in West Monroe in the near future. The time of the local meetings was changed. In the future all meetings will be held at 2 p.m. Mrs. O. J. Ham will be the hostess for the July meeting, July 22—2:00 in the afternoon.

The hostess, Mrs. R. L. Morgan served punch and cake to the guests, Mrs. Ernest Dupuis, Mrs. Billy York, Mrs. John Turner, Miss Ophelia Scott, new members, Mrs. Free Peters, Mrs. A. B. Walters, J. L. Stafford, Mrs. Jack Williams, and the old members, Mrs. Roy Gholson, Mrs. O. J. Ham, Mrs. Edward Sackett, Mrs. Onita Cotney, Mrs. Clyde Bradford, Mrs. Joe Gates and Mrs. Claude Allen.

Praise And Blame For Record Of Legislature Heard In Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE (AP)—With adjournment in sight, Louisiana lawmakers viewed their legislative record with mixed feelings—from "the most humanitarian" to "the stormiest session since reconstruction days."

Passage of the right to work bill—which stirred cyclones of bitterness in Senate and House—broke the tension of the last several weeks.

Members began taking stock as they approached the final week.

Sen. Robert Ainsworth Jr. of New Orleans, administration floor whip, said the "outstanding accomplishment" was enactment of Gov. Robert Kennon's 92 million dollar bond program—50 million for highways and 42 million for institutions.

"The latter I regard as the most humanitarian program for the benefit of those unable to take care of themselves," he said.

"No longer will it be said that the people of Louisiana have neglected the blind, the deaf, the spastic, the incarcerated, the needy and the insane."

Ainsworth praised colleagues for "a progressive and affirmative attitude."

In the House, Rep. E. J. Grizzaffi of St. Mary Parish, administration critic, was blunt—"The worst session in the history of Louisiana.

"We should have given the people the vote on those bond issues. There was so much vote trading I was confused."

And Rep. Albert Koorie of New Orleans grumbled, "If we had a brain in the House, we'd take it out and play with it like a basketball.

"Our results have been poor," he complained. "We've appropriated more money than anytime in history and in total disregard of all advance advice of the Legislative Council and the informal study groups."

Koorie said it was "a fatal error" to pass the highway bond issue without waiting for the planning program set up by the Legislature.

A hefty pat on the back for the session came from Rep. Monnie Cheves of Natchitoches who reminded "This Legislature has accomplished more for education than any in history, to my knowledge."

Ainsworth said nearly half the entire state budget is earmarked for education.

And in the view of Rep. Ted Hickey, New Orleans delegation leader, "All the boys have been fair and square."

Touching on two top issues, Sen. W. M. Rainach of Summerfield, who floor-managed right to work and headed the joint committee on school segregation, said:

"This has been the stormiest session since reconstruction, and the most significant. Right to work created more precedents and more tension than any single bill ever to come before the Legislature. . .

"Of even wider public interest has been the development of a practical, legal solution to the immense problem forced upon the South by the Supremt Court decision banning segregation in our public schools.

"Louisiana will pioneer the way to an eventual solution that will enable the peoples of each state to work out their own destiny without further interference from the Supreme Court or the Congress."

Rep. Claude Kirkpatrick of Jefferson Davis scored rumors mentioned on the House floor about large spending surrounding the right to work bill.

"There have been insinuations large amounts of money have been offered by both sides." He said. "One man was reportedly offered $20,000 to change his vote.

"I feel it speaks well for members of the House that both sides kept the same number of votes during all these supposedly large offers," Kirkpatrick added.

"This is evidence we have men of high caliber in the House."

The youngest House member, Rep. Richard Guidry of Lafourche Parish, said he was impressed with independence of the Legislature and by the increased amount of discussion on issues.

Rep. M. V. Hargrove of Allen Parish, gray-haired veteran, took the view, "We have a fine bunch of fellows here, but we've been putting over some bad legislation along with the good."

An outspoken administration critic, Sen. B. B. Rayburn of Bogalusa, commented, "This has been far away from being an independent Legislature. I have seen the votes on several controversial measures change overnight."

Rayburn said he regards Gov. Kennon as "one of the keenest political maneuverers I've ever known—he's a genius regardless of what anyone thinks about him and he's strictly running the show."

Summing up, Rayburn remarked "There are a lot of good members in the House and Senate and I hope all the commitments made to them are fulfilled."

Rep. Horace Lynn Jones of Calcasieu Parish, while terming the Legislature "outstanding," pictured as "the one weakness" the "lack of facing the facts about additional revenues needed.

"The fact this Legislature did not face the matter squarely brought on such controversial measures as the bond issues."

Rep. George Tessier of New Orleans praised members as "men of good will and far above the average in ability." But he complained vote swapping was prevalent, "which in my opinion made this group appear completely irresponsible in financial matters and salary raises."

Another who criticized spending, Rep. Jasper Smith of Caddo Parish, nevertheless commended the Legislature for making a record "as one of the finest, the best informed, in Louisiana history."

Tennessee was the last state to break away from the Union, in 1861.

Garden Center Notes

Award Winners Named

Congratulations to the Farmerville Garden Club, who won the High Score Award for the month ending May 19th, Members of the Town and Country Garden Club of Monroe staged the flower show at the center this week. Judges were Mrs. Murphy Tannehill of Urania and Mrs. Zollie Meadows of Ruston.

In the arrangement section, Mrs. Lee Carbrey and Mrs. Grant Boardman were awarded first place. For a background they used a large off-white tray with a design of grapes and lemons. A beautiful crescent design of pine, lemons and limes arranged in a flat copper bowl was placed in front of the tray.

Mrs. John Clay was awarded second place. Using a white pedestal basket for a container, Mrs. Clay created a lovely line-mass arrangement of butterfly bush, phlox and zinnias in shades of red-violet Mrs. Walter Shubert and Mrs. Dan Moore, Jr. were awarded third place for a distinctive and refreshing triangular design. A most unusual container was used. Made of black wrought iron in the rose pattern, rectangular in shape with a clear glass inner container and a vertical panel of wrought iron as a background on the left side, this container brings to mind the lovely old wrought iron balconies in New Orleans. The line of the design, achieved with green grapes and self foliage, was brought down the panel and continued to the rim of the container. Green and white caladium leaves followed the design and gardenias were used as a focal point.

In the horticulture section, blue ribbons were awarded as follows: Mrs. A. B. Myatt, Jr. for white verbena, Mrs. Charles Searcy for Bells of Ireland and Mrs. John Mullen for vinca rosea.

Out-of-town guests this week were Mrs. Fred Wall of Houston who enjoyed the activities of the center and our old friend Florence Downing who now makes her home in Stuttgart, Ark. Mrs. Kent Womack of Monroe brought in some beautiful tiger lilies. One of those was most unique in that it had triple layers of petals. Mrs. Womack raised this lily from the seed of the single tiger lily (lilium tigrinum). National Council Amateur Flower Show Judging Certificates have recently been received by Fifth District Garden Club members as follows: Mrs. L. P. Craighead, Delhi, Mrs. Guy Kincaid, Winnsboro, Mrs. Murphy Tannehill, Urania, Mrs. Zollie Meadows and Mrs. R. L. Vining of Ruston, Mrs. C. E. McKenzie and your secretary of Monroe. These certificates are granted only after completion of courses of study and examination in five nationally accredited Flower Show Schools. These are concentrated courses that require much time, effort, study and determination and our judges are certainly to be congratulated.

The Garden Center maintains a list of accredited amateur flower show judges and we are always glad to be of assistance to our clubs. Of course, you know that these judges serve without pay and are reimbursed only for their traveling expenses, if any. Their services are, therefore, a courtesy to the garden clubs and their members.

Vollman Sisters Pledge Vows In Church Weddings

Grace Episcopal Church and the Calvary Baptist Church were the setting for the Vollman sisters weddings which were held at five and six o'clock Friday evening. Miss Georgia Ann Vollman became the bride of Alton Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown of Hodge, in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. D. W. Nix at the Calvary Baptist Church. Miss Beverly Jean Vollman and Roger C. Kimball, son of Mrs. R. C. Kimball, exchanged nuptial vows performed by the Rev. E. F. Hayward at five o'clock at Grace Church. The brides are daughters of Mrs. C. Vollman.

The altars of both churches were decorated with magnolias and white asters.

Mr. Frank Parker was organist at Miss Beverly Jean Vollman's wedding.

Given in marriage by Mr. J. F. Stone, Jr., the bride was attired in a white organdy model over taffeta with a matching lace hat. Her bouquet was of white carnations carried on a Prayer Book.

The bride's sister, Miss Georgia Ann Vollman, was maid of honor. She was also attired in a white organdy dress and carried a bouquet of white arnations.

Eual Camp served Mr. Kimball as best man.

Brown-Vollman

Miss Georgia Ann Vollman was given in marriage by Mr. Francis N. Steele. Her wedding gown was of white organdy with a lace hat. She carried a white orchid atop a Prayer Book.

Mrs. Beverly Kimball, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Monty Brown, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Reception Held

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Stone, Jr., were hosts at a reception for the bridal couples at seven o'clock.

The brides' table was artistically decorated with gardenias and magnolias. It also held the three-tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom.

Both couples will make their homes in Monroe.

Girl Scout News

This week's the last chance to get in on day camp plans. Training for counselors and program aides this week, then camping at Pine Wood next and the next. The bus ride will be part of the fun, no doubt, and camp will be a rewarding experience for all concerned. Day camp is just the place, we say, for girls to get their first camping experience.

Last year during day camp it rained several times, making the weather cooler, and not interfering too much with outdoor activities. Let's hope the same thing happens this year.

In preparations for day camp the cots have been folded and put away and mattresses stored. The long porch will be an ideal place for crafts, with tables and benches moved from the dining room. Tall pines shade the grounds much of the day, so the heat should not be too much of a problem.

A letter will go out this week to parents of girls registered, giving last-minute arrangements as to time and place of bus stops, says Mrs. Leon Noland, day camp chairman.

Last week workmen completed a brick incinerator, something the camp has needed for a long time for safe burning of paper. A water pipe has been laid to the pine grove where the little cabin is, to be convenient for a unit there. Most of the pine seedlings the girls planted in February are living; how they manage, we don't know.

Recent gifts for Pine Wood include native iris plants given by Mrs. M. L. Quillen, leader of Troop 29, "The First Book of Puppets" for the bookshelf, given by Troop 16, Mrs. G. F. Breard, leader, and a wall can opener, the gift of Troop 31, Mrs. Harry Martin and Mrs. Leo Ragland, leaders.

From all we hear, the girls who are going to established camp for two weeks in August are going to have fun and adventure galore. Several of the staff spent a few days at Wawbansee recently and report that the site itself has endless possibilities for good camp program. They tell of going across the lake for an overnight, sleeping zapped up in a jungle hammock. Safe from a possible mosquito. It was cool at night, we might add.

Just living in those little brown cabins nestled on the slopes of the lake sound like fun. Each cabin is for four girls, each girl having plenty of room for her possessions. Counselors live in their own cabin in the unit. Five cabins for girls and two for counselors make up a unit, with space between units, so that what one group does in no way interferes with another group's activities.

Some fifty girls are going to be very happy when August 15 rolls around and they set out for Camp Wawbansee, near Arcadia. Lucky girls, we might add.

Have a glorious Fourth, everybody!

Sunflowers Lend Their Beauty To Roadside

FERRIDAY — In Concordia parish on the Horseshoe Lake highway there is perhaps as much as a mile during which the motorist passes numbers of unpretentious tenant houses standing in yards that are pretentiously golden with yellow disks of sunflowers.

Some of the yards are enclosed in picket fences that the sunflowers tower above, or lean, looking over. Every person traveling the road receives the gift of beauty and the gift of vision from the heart of whoever planted and shared sunflower seeds.

Members of the Ferriday Garden Club point out that any gardener with a fence, a hedge, or a corner that needs brightening might at this time or only a little later than now get some sunflower seeds for planting next year. They say only a handful stored until next spring will do. The seed, they stated, should be planted where the plants are to grow and they need full sun and good drainage. They said that not only will those people who pass them enjoy the flowers, but so will be birds who eat the seeds.

The United States Army was the first of the world's armies to have a signal corps.

Bridal Shower Honors Fransec Steden

COLUMBIA — More than one hundred and fifty guests wese invited to the bridal shower honoring Miss Frances Steden, bride elect of Joseph F. McConnell.

The party was held in the Smith H. Walker home Wednesday evening from 5 until 9 o'clock, with Mrs. Walker, Mrs. J. J. Humble, Mrs. Lee Roy Adams, Jr. and Mrs. L. L. LaCroix, hostesses. The home was decorated throughout with bouquets of summer flowers. The serving table in the dining room, overlaid with a lace cloth, had figurine for the center piece. White candles in crystal candelabra were on either side. Serving the punch were Miss Janita Folmes and Miss Ruby Waldrop.

The honoree wore a white dress of tucked batiste with a full skirt and fitted bodice, and a corsage of pale pink split carnations, a gift of the hostesses.

Greeting the guests were Mrs. Edna McConnell, mother of the groom-elect, and Mrs. Guy Gates, aunt of the bride. Mrs. E. W. Martin recorded the gift list in the Bride's book. Among the out of town guest were: Mrs. Ina Sweetman and Mrs. Theresa Sweetman of Rayville, and Mrs. D. E. Sikes of Winnfield.

Lee-Pardue

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Pardue of West Monroe announce the marriage of their daughter, Vickie Dianne, to Mr. Bobby Eugene Lee, son of Mrs. Allen Lee of West Monroe, and the late Mr. Lee.

The simple, yet beautiful ceremony was performed on Friday, at 6:00 o'clock in the evening at the parsonage of the Chemiere Baptist Church. The Rev. W. E. Spencer officiated.

The bride was wearing a white Irish linen suit, accented with navy blue. Her accessories were navy blue.

Mrs. Robert Gentry served as matron of honor, and Mr. Gentry was best man.

The couple will make their home in West Monroe.

SOUTHERN GARDENER—

By William Lanier Hunt

The 'Great Vine' At Hampton Court

ENROUTE TO PARIS FROM LONDON — Spring has been late in England this year at Hampton Court near Kingston-on-Thames, which has been "home" to your columnist in England.

The spring flowers like Dutch irises were still in flower in the beautiful sunken gardens. Gardeners are still planting the "bedding out" flowers like geraniums and dusty miller from pots in large formal beds which look like carpets between the ancient pyramidal yews in front of his charming old red brick palace.

Henry VII took this fine building away from Cardinal Woollsey. And Queen Elizabeth spent part of her childhood here and there is one of our American "cedars" here which they tell everyone she planted.

I remember back in 1945 down at Salisbury back of the bishop's "close", General Trieth showed me another and asked me if I thought Elizabeth could have planted it, too. I remarked that this one and the one at Hampton Court looked to be the same age.

Two things that gardeners always love at Hampton Court are the maize where Elizabeth played as a child and the "great vine". One has to pay extra to go into the large greenhouse and see this fantastically big grape vine. They take absolutely perfect care of it and visitors always say "Oh, look at the grapes which only the Queen can eat, I wonder how they taste!"

Back in '28 when I was first in England, newspapers carried an item one day expressing great anxiety because something was wrong with "the great vine."

In the front part of the palace at Hampton Court and for four or five hundred feet along a high brick wall, there is a fourteen foot high perennial border along the brick wall. It is one of the most lavish things in the gardening world when it is in bloom. I had my color camera all cocked and primed for it, but, alas! it was in bloom only in spots.

In spite of a cloudy day, however, my light meter showed that we were getting a great deal of sun right through the clouds—that was why everyone was squinting—so I made some shots of the garden through which the royal parties made their way to the Palace from the river. The composer Handel, I believe, wrote some of his music here and royal families must have actually entered the palace through "the William III orangery". On Sunday afternoons in summer people come up from London (after 30 minutes from Waterloo station) to hear chamber music concerts in this "orangery". Oranges were actually grown this far north in many palaces and fine homes in years gone by. The little trees were grown in huge tubs in sunny "orangeries" with large windows and were kept warm, some with very elaborate systems of hot air pipes. In summer the tubs were pulled out onto terraces just outside the building.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

The celebration of the Fourth of July in the United States of America is heartwarming and inspiring.

Complete Independence Would Lead To Loneliness

After two world wars we all know that no individual can have independence if his country is enslaved. The celebration of the fourth of July in the United States of America is heartwarming and inspiring because today we are especially aware, after such recent experience, of the vision and beauty of the principles which so dramatically were set forth in the Declaration of Independence.

Every man and woman today is conscious of the fact that the world has shrunk. When it takes only eight hours to go by plane from New York to Los Angeles, when you can leave New York at seven in the evening and eat breakfast over London the next morning, the world as we knew it, has shrunk.

So, there is no such thing any more as complete independence for a nation or an individual. There remains in much of the world the right of choice, of integrity and independent decision.

Lonely, Too

Today I am thinking especially of personal independence. There isn't any such thing if you live richly and wish to be happy. Find the man or woman who can be completely independent, who can do at any moment what he or she wishes without considering anyone else, with no responsibilities or obligations to anyone in particular; find the man or woman who feels that his or her actions will have no impact on anyone else, and you will have found the loneliest person in the world.

So, when life gets pretty rugged and you feel that you may be carrying more than your share, stop and think, and give thanks that you are at least right in the middle of life. Give thanks even though it is hectic and hard at times.

Have Some Independence

Of course the happy medium is the thing we long for but it is extremely elusive. Many folks do not make individual choices at all when they could do so. Life gets them by the neck, responsibilities accumulate, habit and pressure close in, and life is over almost before they have made a single free choice.

Many persons allow themselves to be heckled by others when the output in energy is out of proportion to the obligation or connection or feeling.

While remembering that you would be very lonely if you could be completely independent, still try to bring some entirely independent choices to your life.

Concordia Junior Livestock Loan Committee Meets

FERRIDAY, July 3 (Special)—The Concordia Parish Junior Livestock Loan committee met at the Concordia Electrical Cooperative building in Ferriday today and reviewed applications for loans from 4-H and F. F. A. members.

Joseph W. Milby, county agent, and secretary of the organization, said that the state legislature in 1952 authorized $500,000 for the commissioner of agriculture to insure to local lending agencies loans, made to eligible club members, to $3,000. Concordia parish members now have 11 loans already made.

Members of the committee in addition to Milby are: H. W. Abel, W. W. Kelly, E. E. Taylor, Gerald DeLaune, A. E. Langford, Joe Buckley and William Pollion.

AN AERIAL VIEW of the new traffic system at the intersection of Walnut and Washington streets shows the police and street departments' idea of how the system is supposed to work. At the top, beyond the cone street markers, southbound traffic on Walnut is preceeding past the red traffic light in one lane and is stopped for the light in the center lane, enabling left hand turns off Washington on the green light. The two lanes will merge about 100 feet past the intersection. When the green light is on for Walnut street traffic, both southbound and northbound lanes may proceed at once.

New Traffic System On Walnut Put In

"A step forward in traffic control in Monroe" this week was the comment of Commissioner of Streets and Parks Wayne Huckaby, who was speaking of the new traffic system being inaugurated at the intersection of Walnut and Washington streets.

The new system will allow a free southbound flow of traffic past the intersection at all times, keeping the traffic from "bottling up" at the corner.

Idea for the new system was originated by Dick Harper, city engineer, and carried out by Harper and Major Jack Davis, traffic coordinator for the Monroe police department.

According to Harper, a 269 foot long, four - inch-high traffic "blister" begins separating southbound traffic on Walnut about 100 feet north of the Washington street intersection.

On the curb side of the blister, motor vehicles will be able to pass the traffic light at the intersection while it is showing red, but motorists in the center lane will stop for the light.

This will enable one lane of traffic to continue past the intersection at all times, while still allowing cars turned south off Washington to get onto Walnut.

In effect, southbound Walnut street motorists will be able to drive on without waiting for those wishing to turn off Walnut onto Washington.

The lane of traffic turning left onto Walnut from Washington and the curbside Walnut lane will merge about another 100 feet past the intersection.

When the light is green for Walnut street traffic, both of the southbound and the northbound lanes may move at once.

The idea for the lane has been in the planning stage for some time and will go permanently into operation within the next few days. All parking meters have have been removed from the west side of Walnut to allow the traffic to flow freely over the railroad crossing.

Meeting Cut Out By Legion Post

The regular meeting of L. B. Faulk post No. 13 of the American Legion, scheduled for Monday night, has been cancelled, T. Mickel, commander, said Saturday. Cancellation was made because of the Fourth of July holiday, which extends through Monday.

The next meeting will be held July 19.

68 Police Cases Handled In June;

A total of 68 felony and misdemeanor cases were handled by the Monroe police detective department during the month of June and some $6,123.14 was stolen during the month, according to a report released yesterday by Chief of Detectives Hugh Tolbert.

Of other cases, the report showed 55 cleared by arrest or recovery of property, and $5,357.69 worth of property recovered, meaning the department cleared about 85 per cent of its cases during the month.

During he month, the report said, there were no murders or manslaughters, and no cases of rape.

The report showed one robbery, eight auto thefts, one forgery, two charges of carrying weapons, one sex offense, two violations of drug laws, three vagrancy, one gambling, and two cases reported by other authorities. All of them were cleared by arrest or recovery of stolen property.

Of the other cases, the report showed eight out of nine aggravated assault cases cleared, nine out of 13 burglaries, three out of five thefts over $50, 14 out of 20 thefts under $50, leaving 14 cases still to be cleared for the month.

In addition to these, two burglaries from previous months, two thefts over $50 from previous months, and one theft under $50 from previous months was cleared by the department, tht report said.

Sixteen of the cases handled were juvenile cases where detectives worked with Major J. B. Whitfield, city juvenile officer.

Youth Caravan To Be Guests In Jena

JENA, La. — A Methodist Youth Caravan, headed by Miss Naomi Flewellyn of Minden and a member of the staff of Centenary College, Shreveport, arrived in Jena Saturday, for a week - long mission at the Nolley Memorial Methodist church.

This was announced by the Rev. W. O. Lynch, new pastor at Nolley Memorial, who said the caravan will be composed of Miss Flewellyn as counselor; John Larson of Chicago, Ill., Carolyn Hodnett of Marlow, Okla.; Shirley Ann Cross of Murray, Ky., and Nancy Pace of Norman, Okla.

The group will come to Jena from a similar mission at the Barksdale Methodist church of Bossier City and will remain here through July 10 when they will leave for another appointment. In all, they will conduct work at six different churches in Louisiana during the summer program, Rev. Lynch said. During their stay here, the members of the group will confer with and work with young people and adults in the church.

2. DO PEOPLE REALIZE WHAT HAPPENS WHEN THEY CHEAT ON TAXES? YES NO
3. IS LOVE STILL ROMANTIC IN COMMUNIST COUNTRIES? TRUE FALSE

Answer to Question No. 1

1. One writer says they are good providers, know what they want, dress well, are mature and have decided characteristics, have fine appetites, with slight indigestion. Bosh. As a rule, with exceptions, such men are selfish, self-centered, want their own way, feel inferior, and make poor husbands.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. No, and don't care. But they steal from neighbors; deprive widows, old people, and ophans of aid; keep young people from education; reduce money to prevent juvenile delinquency; send some adults to the electric chair; increase bad roads, highway accidents, and deaths—indeed rob themselves of a happy world to live in. Tax scoundrels, remember this!

Answer to Question No. 3

3. When a boy kisses a girl in East Germany, she is expected to "speed up production" and "feel gratitude to the Communist Government for price cuts in consumer goods," according to a Reuters dispatch. In one case, when Siegfried kissed Sieglinde, "her eyes shone like two rivets on his machine, and she gave him a glance as if she were checking the oil lever of a gearbox." Seigfried said, "Let us prepare an agenda." Grand and glorious!

In Hollywood

By Jimmy Fidler

Character Actor

By ROBERT RYAN
(Guest Columnist)

HOLLYWOOD, July 3 — To where I want to go and what I want to do I believe my career is in its infancy.

I have always felt I was a character actor. But it's evident that Hollywood picture - makers disagreed with me from the very start. Until recently, it's been my lot as possessor of a big physique and so - called rugged features to be cast in he-men dramas, with action rather than acting demanded.

Only occasionally have unexpected opportunities to characterize interjected themselves, such as the psychopathic murdered in "Beware, My Lovely" with Ida Lupino, and for those histrionic windfalls I was grateful. I'm not looking down my nose at what's been handed me material - wise because it's all been good experience, helped me make a name and paid the grocery bills, and you can't ask for more than that. But with maturity, both in age and experience, I am sure I'm at last going to get started to where I feel I belong as a performer.

I am basing my hopes for a character future on audience reaction in my co - starring performance with Shirley Booth in "About Mrs. Leslie" which we recently completed under the direction of Daniel Mann. In the picturization of Vina Delmar's popular novel, I am cast as a Washington governmental figure, a sophisticated man of the world, trapped by his own loneliness, who finds an outlet for his shut - in emotions in a secret love affair with a night - club singer.

I think this is the most adult role I've ever been called upon to play. I couldn't believe my eyes when I read the script and discovered for once I wasn't a do-or-die hero of the outdoors with the clothes ripped off my back while fighting the villain in the climactic fight atop the cliff before clutching the heroine in my arms. There's no clothes - ripping, no villain and no cliff in the picture. The romance plays against itself in a series of scenes, both poignant and humorous. My part is that of a man with grown - up thoughts in a grown-up situation. It's subtle, sophisticated and engrossing hov this story of what begins as a companionate thing develops far beyond that into a tender and important intimacy for two lonely people.

I have been watching with interest the careers of Clark Gable, Spencer Tracy, Gary Cooper and Joel McCrea, all of whom are doing the type of assignment he would like.

Gable, Cooper and McCrea have had their share of the action pictures such as I've been doing and gone on to characterization. Tracy, of course, has always been primarily a character player. He's my idol. I'd like most of all to pattern my future after Tracy. His name is a trademark. You always know that with a Sepncer Tracy picture you'll see him in some interesting, well - drawn, adult characterization.

I came to the acting profession with a background of about everything else. I've been a seaman, sandhog, salesman, miner, cowboy, laborer, paving supervisor and model. I've even been a poet.

My experiences have helped me as an actor. I've been around and it all helps. But, you know, I didn't have the courage to really face this acting thing until I was the rope old age of 27. That's late in the day for a fellow to be fooling around. I don't think I lost too much by starting so tardily, however. Usually, when you're young and you hit this profession, you take such a licking that you lose your enthusiasm when you need it most. I came into it at a solid age and still had that enthusiasm. I still think the most exciting thing that ever happened to me was being hired at a hundred bucks a week as a stock player by Paramount. I thought I owned the earth. I lost the job six months later when my option wasn't renewed. But whenever I'm asked for the most thrilling event of my life, I always answer that it was that first Hollywood break.

When I found my luck bad after losing my contract, I didn't hang around town waiting for it to improve. I took off to New York and the theater where I worked with Luise Rainer in "A Kiss For Cinderella" and Tallulah Bankhead in "Clash by Night."

Then I was brought to Hollywood again on a long term deal and at more money by RKO. I figure I've made about 30 pictures in my career.

I've lost count, to be truthful, but I've been enormously busy and for that I'm grateful. For example, this year alone, I've done five pictures without a day free in between. I've thought of trying the Broadway stage again and told myself that if a good play came along I'd snap it up. But being a married man with three children and responsibilities, you can't be the gypsy-type actor and go where the whim tells you. I work in Hollywood consistently. Why turn my back on it? I hope that I become a successful character actor and work until I'm wheeled in by an attendant.

'Secret Of The Incas' Fully Filmed In Peru

Daring adventure, set against the exotic and dangerous background of Peru sparks Paramount's brand new action-packed Technicolor drama, "Secret of the Incas," which opens Thursday at the Paramount Theatre. Starring a top-notch cast headed by Charlton Heston, Robert Young, Nicole Maurey and Thomas Mitchell and presenting the Peruvian singing sensation Yma Sumac, the Mel Epstein-produced film is chock-full of all sorts of interesting happenings.

The story concerns a young adventurer, Heston, who has vowed to make a million dollars by hook or by crook. The manner in which he chooses to live in South America involves hustling for as much money as he can while spending as little of it as possible. However, what he has in the back of his mind is the appropriation of a multi-million dollar gem-encrusted image that has been lost from civilization for centuries.

The opportunity to acquire this valuable item comes about when Nicole Maurey, a beautiful adventuress, coaxes him aid to get herself into the Secret. Be[illegible]her for bait he manages to get hold of a private airplane that he needs to accomplish his task. The only thing standing in his way is Thomas Mitchell, a cutthroat conman who also has his avaricious eye on the priceless treasure.

Arriving at the scene of the diggings where the hidden trove has been sequestered, Heston is met by Robert Young, leader of an archaeological expedition seeking the same treasure but for a different reason. It is at this point that the intrigue explodes into a holocaust of hate and violence, with all the opposing interests attempting to gain control of the treasure.

Just as electrifying as the excitement engendered in "Secret of the Incas" is the startling beauty of the Peruvian settings.

Another unique feature of the film is the appearance of Yma Sumac, the South American thrush whose range is almost incredible.

"Secret of the Incas" was directed by Jerry Hopper from a screenplay by Ranald MacDougall and Sydney Boehm from a story by Sydney Boehm.

STRANGE BIRD

The hoatzin, a tropical American bird, has a Comanche tuft of headfeathers, eyelashes like a movie actress, and well-developed claws on each wing. It can climb trees with these claws long before it can fly and an objectionable musty odor it emits to dissuade its natural enemies has earned it the name of "stinking preasant."

Now Is Time To Propagate Plants

FARM SAFETY WEEK

The eleventh National Farm Safety Week is scheduled for July 25-31. The motive of this observance is to continue the drive to reduce needless death and injuries to farm people. This marks the eleventh annual campaign for safety in farm life. Since in number of accidental deaths last year per hundred thousand people, agriculture leads all other kind of work by a very considerable margin, except in mining, construction, and gas and oil well drilling. Mr. H.C. Sanders, director of the Agriculture Extension at L. S. U., has been appointed state chairman of National Safety Week. The slogan for Farm Safety Week is Farm to live and Live to Farm."

Now Is Time To Propagate Plants Needed

If you need more plants for your grounds and money with which to buy them is limited, you can grow many of them from seeds and immature cuttings.

Information On How To Propagate By Seeds

Some seeds from trees and shrubs may be stratafied as soon as they are mature and planted in the fall or early spring. Some of these are: Fringe, pyracantha, dogwood, hollies, magnolia, gingo, nandina, pear bush, and tulip trees.

Some seeds may be gathered, kept dry, and planted in spring as red bud, althea, crape myrtle, philadelphus. Other seeds should be planted as soon as ripe, as acorns of oaks. The U. S. D. A. Farmers' Bulletin No. 1567 gives excellent information on this subject. The Extension Service has only a few copies but you can order it from superintendent of documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington 25, D. C. for 15 cents.

Start Cuttings Now

You may propagate other plants by cuttings. There are two classes of cuttings mature and immature. Immature cuttings may now be made from camellias, azaleas, abelia, duetzia, hydrangea, weigelia, rose, and others. It is wise to use a rooting media as builders' sand vermiculite or a mixture of the two. Commercial growth promoting preparations in powder form such as Hormodin No. 3, quick root, No. 2, and Stem root give good results as root inducers. A propagating flat about 8 inches deep, 30 inches long and 28 inches wide will give enough space to grow many cuttings. It should be covered with glass, unbleached sheeting or similar material. If glass is used, it should be white washed. If unbleached sheeting is used, it should cover the bed completely, somewhat like a small tent 24 to 30 inches high in the middle running full length of the bed.

The flat should be kept in a well drained place in partial shade. Cutting of current season growth, 3 to 6 inches in length should be taken just above a leaf. Keep these in a cool, moist, and shaded place from time cutting is made until they are placed in propagating flat. Remove all leaves except 2 or 3 at top. Dip cuttings in water then in root inducing materials. Plant in trenches 4 inches apart. Water down. Spray cloth cover with a fine mist of water 2 to 3 times a day until cutting begin to root. Open the cover over flat occasionally for ventilation. When plants have a good root growth, they should be transplanted to cold frame.

Keeping Youngsters Busy

Are you having trouble keeping your youngster busy this summer? 4-H Club work is an excellent organization to help you with this problem. The agent had the opportunity of seeing some of the 4-H girls' work, their interest, and activities this month. Sylvia Boudreaux, of the Woodlawn community has become an expert pie baker in her 4-H work. Sylvia baked and served six cherry pies to the presidents of the Home Demonstration Clubs June 15th. She also demonstrated to the group how skillfully she did her work. June 15th was a very hot day but Sylvia declared, "It isn't too hot to bake pies — I like to bake." Other 4-H girls are spending their time this summer in food preservation, clothing, planning and helping to serve family meals. This 4-H girls' work is supervised by Mrs. Audrey Dawson, Associate Home Demonstration Agent who loves her work, too.

See you next Sunday.

Your Problems

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is that I am 23 years old, am 5 foot 10 inches and weigh 220 pounds; I am in the Army. I am well liked but I am constantly being teased and joked about because of my weight. Inasmuch as I don't feel that I am extremely overweight, how can I get over feeling embarrassed and self-conscious? — Cave Man

You can't until you begin to resemble the accepted form of the human. Start exercising by pushing the dining room table away from you before you overload . . . shame on so much of you!

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am 76 years old and am working around a stranger's house and garden for the use of a room. I receive no board and no pay. My $32 monthly social security check must clothe and feed me. I am getting so that soon I will no longer be able to work. I cannot get an old-age pension because I have children. It occurs to me that the children should see all these things. I don't know what to do.—Daily Reader

Don't worry, sir, the children are well aware of "these things." But, like ostriches, they are sticking their heads in the sand so they cannot see your problems too clearly. Drop the dears a note telling them that you no longer can work and cannot draw an old-age pension because the law believes a parent's children should return some of the care, love and affection the parent gave to the children when the parent no longer can fend for himself. Ask them what arrangements they can make, or shall you appeal to Legal Aid, who will darned well prod them into making arrangements?

Dear Mrs. Landers: I am 21 and in love with a boy of 26 with whom I have grown up. Since he has been out of the service he has been in college. Quite a few of his relatives tell me he has a girl in college, is engaged to her and expects to marry her in six months. Yet, at least once a week he visits me, sits and talks and watches TV but never suggests that we go out. When I ask him about the girl he says it is not true and asks me where I'm getting the information. I know positively that this girl has been here twice to visit him and his family. In our talks he never mentions the future but only talks about his work. Please tell me what to do?—Troubled Honesty is the best policy in your case. Tell the boy you like him quite well . . . too much so to let your heart become involved further. And, that, in spite of what he tells you about the girl, you are pretty sure the story has a good foundation.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of News-Star.

PATTERN A583
by Esther Reifer

PROMINENT DESIGNER—Low and behold the devastating new Esther Reifer neckline. The front—a curve of flattery! The back—held by a single T-strap! Bare? Ah yes, but very, very beautiful. Best of all, you can move, gesture, dance with complete social security. It's a supremely, magnificently comfortable neckline and THE line for the too-small or too-ample bosom. That simple seaming on the bodice is just another Reifer device of good design that accomplishes miracles. But that's not all this figure wizard does for you. She nips the waist, then releases flowing, unpressed pleats in one of the most graceful skirts to whirl around town. A long zipper down the back assures the doll-waist look you love. Sewing? No complications. Fabric? The original is a printed cotton, but you might make your copy in a textured pique, shantung, or silk. You'll have a creation by one of America's most inspired designers.

Pattern A583 is available in Misses' Sizes 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18. Size 16 requires 5 yards 35-inch fabric; ⅞ yard 35-inch bodice lining.

Send FIFTY CENTS (in coins) for Pattern A583 to Morning World Pattern Department, P. O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York 11, N. Y. Please print plainly YOUR NAME, ADDRESS with ZONE, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE.

BLONDE FOR THE 6TH!
IN HIS SPARE TIME HE ROAMED ALL OVER THE FROZEN ARCTIC, HUNTING.
LATER, WHEN PEARY DISCOVERED THE NORTH POLE, THEY SAY HE FOUND BUFORD'S INITIALS WHITTLED ON IT A FOOT HIGH!
NOW IN HIS PRIME, BUFORD IS STILL THE OUTDOORS TYPE.
SURELY YOU WON'T NEED THESE HOT WATER BOTTLES, ELECTRIC PADS AND FUR-LINED NIGHT GOWNS IN THE SUMMER, MR. McKEE?
WE MAY HAVE A COOL SPELL, AND MY DOCTORS SAID I MUSTN'T GET CHILLED! I'M TO HAVE COMPLETE RELAXATION ON THIS TRIP!
BUT SOMEHOW, EASY.. I FEEL A STRANGE FOREBODING-
TUT, TUT, SUH.. REMEMBER, YOU'RE TO THINK ONLY HAPPY THOUGHTS!
BESIDES THERE'S A CHANCE THAT THE ALASKAN CHAP THEY SAY LOOKS LIKE YOU MAY TURN OUT TO BE YOUR COUSIN BUFORD! YOU'D LIKE THAT!
AH, YES! WE WERE MERE INFANTS WHEN HE SUPPOSEDLY PERISHED OFF ALASKA, BUT I'D RECOGNIZE A McKEE!

HEY, HONEY! ANNA, ILLINOIS, IS MAKING MOON THE GUEST OF HONOR AT ITS 100TH CENTENNIAL ANNIVERSARY TOMORROW. GUESS WOT HE'S GONNA GIVE US!
A PAIN IN TH' NECK?
YES, AND HE GIVE US TWO FRONT ROW SEATS IN THE REVIEWING STAND FOR FREE.
HUH?
YOUR HAT. WILL YOU PLEASE TAKE IT OFF?
GOSH! YOU'RE SO DUMB YOU THINK TH' ONLY TIME YOU'RE SUPPOSED TO TAKE YOUR HAT OFF IS WHEN YOU GET A HAIRCUT.
I AIN'T SEEN NOTHIN' OF YER NEPHEW YET, BUT I GUESS WE AIN'T MISSED MUCH.
LOOK, PET. I THINK THE REAR ONE OF THEM GUYS IN THAT HORSE ACT IS MOON.
WELL, THEY COULDN'T UV GOT ANYBODY BETTER SUITED TO PLAY THAT PART.
TSK-TSK-RAINING LIKE CATS AND DOGS. NOW WE'LL HAVE TO TAKE A TAXI HOME.
WE WILL DO NOTHING OF THE KIND.
MOON, WILL YOU AND YOUR FRIEND LET ME AND YER UNCLE WILLIE PUT ON YOUR HORSE?
SURE.
I CAN'T SEE ANY SENSE IN SPENDIN' MONEY FOR A TAXI TO KEEP OUT OF TH' RAIN WHEN WE CAN GO HOME IN THIS WOT'S COMING OFF HERE?
OUCH!
THAT IDIOT! HE WAS SMOKING A CIGAR IN HERE!

MIGHTY NICE OF YOU FOLKS TO COME OUT TO VISIT ME--- CARE TO LOOK AROUND THE YACHT BEFORE DINNER?

I'LL SAY! NEVER KNEW A BOAT COULD BE SO BIG!

IT SURE IS FANCY!

USED TO HAVE A PADDLE WHEEL STEAMBOAT BACK HOME--- REMEMBER, ELLA?

USED TO TAKE FOLKS FROM TOWN UP TH' RIVER TO ELECTRIC PARK ON SUNDAYS---

SHALL WE GO THIS WAY FIRST?

THEY'LL HAVE A WONDERFUL TIME--- IT WAS SWELL OF YOU TO ASK 'EM---

THEY'RE FINE FOLKS! HM-M--- I'D LIKE TO GO ASHORE TO VISIT WITH THEM---

THEN WHY DON'T YOU? IT'S A FREE COUNTRY, 'CORDIN' TO TH' HISTORY BOOKS!

AH, YES! FOUGHT AND WON OUR INDEPENDENCE A LONG TIME AGO--- THAT'S RIGHT, ANNIE---

QUITE A NUMBER OF OTHER COUNTRIES WON THEIRS, TOO--- ONCE---

YEP! AWFUL TOUGH BATTLES, BUT FOLKS WON 'EM!

ONLY TROUBLE IS, ANNIE, THE BATTLE FOR FREEDOM IS ONE THAT NEVER STAYS WON! IT GOES ON AND ON--- FOREVER, I GUESS!

EASE UP FOR A SECOND, GET SOFT, OR CARELESS, OR OVERCONFIDENT OR OVER-TRUSTFUL--- AND WE'LL LOSE THAT BATTLE--- FOREVER!

Y'MEAN WE'RE REALLY FIGHTIN' TO KEEP FREE RIGHT NOW?

WELL, SOME OF US ARE, ANNIE! OF COURSE, AS IN MOST WARS, AN AWFUL LOT OF FOLKS JUST CAN'T BE BOTHERED---

BUT IF WE LOSE TH' FIGHT, THEY'D BE SLAVES, TOO---

MAYBE THEY'RE THE SORT WHO WOULDN'T KNOW THE DIFFERENCE! ME, I AIM TO STAY FREE! I THINK MILLIONS OF OTHERS FEEL THE SAME---

WELL, I SURE DO! HEY--- WHAT'S THAT?

DANIEL'S FAITH

YOUNG DANIEL AND HIS FRIENDS--AZARIAH, MISHAEL AND HANANIAH--WATCH AS THE BABYLONIAN BATTERING RAMS POUND THE WALLS OF JERUSALEM AND...

...GRIM-FACED ARCHERS ARRIVE TO PUT A STOP TO IT!

DUE TO HASTY AIM AND NERVOUSNESS, NEARLY ALL THE ARROWS FALL SHORT...

...BUT THE SECOND VOLLEY IS MORE ACCURATE, AND....

SOME SEEK SHELTER IN THE BATTERING RAMS...

JERUSALEM'S ARCHERS LAUGH IN GLEE AT THE CONFUSION BELOW AND SEND VOLLEY AFTER VOLLEY OF ARROWS DOWNWARD!

NEBUCHADNEZZAR HAS BEEN WATCHING THE ACTION FROM A HILL IN ANGER... NOW HE ORDERS HIS ARCHERS TO BEGIN THEIR ATTACK!

THE BABYLONIAN ARROWS ARE AS THICK AS FLIES... NOTHING HUMAN CAN LIVE UNDER SUCH A DOWNPOUR... SO DANIEL AND HIS FRIENDS RETREAT FROM THE WALL.

"WHAT CAN WE DO?" AZARIAH CRIES. "NOTHING--EXCEPT PRAY AND TRUST GOD," DANIEL ANSWERS. "WE MUST NOT LOSE FAITH!"

Publishers Syndicate

...BUT WITH THE DEFENDERS DRIVEN FROM THE WALL, THE BATTERING RAMS CAN BE PUT TO WORK AGAIN AND SOON... THE GATES ARE SMASHED OPEN! NEXT WEEK--- DANIEL FACES HIS CAPTORS!

AND YOU'LL MISS SWEENEY. THERE'S NOTHING REALLY WRONG WITH MY WIFE. SHE HAS CHAPEAU-PHOBIA. YOUR JOB IS TO STOP THAT WOMAN FROM BUYING DIZZY EXPENSIVE HATS. UNDERSTAND?

BUT SIR?

THAT'S YOUR PROBLEM. BY THE WAY, HAVE YOU EVER BEEN A HAT DESIGNER?

NO, SIR. BUT IN COLLEGE I LEARNED TO MAKE MY HATS AND DRESSES.

SURPRISE, PET! I WANT YOU TO MEET MADEMOISELLE SWEENEY, THE CELEBRATED CREATOR OF WOMEN'S HATS.

NOT REALLY? OH, MY DEAR, YOU'RE THE VERY PERSON I NEED.

YOU SIMPLY MUST GO TO TOWN WITH ME AND HELP ME SELECT A HAT.

REMEMBER, YOU MUST NOT LET HER BUY ANOTHER HAT.

YES, SIR.

JUST WAIT'LL YOU SEE THEM, ADORABLE WORKS OF ART. THEY'RE NELLY VERMELLI ORIGINALS INSPIRED BY HER TRIP TO JAMAICA.

NOW HERE'S THE FIRST ONE.

THIS, MADAME, IS CALLED "THE SEA". IT WAS CONCEIVED AFTER SEEING A NATIVE CARRYING A FISH ON HER HEAD. $185.98.

OR PERHAPS YOU PREFER THIS ONE.

A MASTERPIECE CALLED "BLACK MAGIC", DECORATED WITH AUTHENTIC VOODOO CHARMS — A GOAT'S TAIL AND A CHICKEN FOOT. IRRESISTIBLE AT ONLY $149.95.

ANOTHER TREASURE. BARNYARD FOWL AND A CUNNING PIG INSIDE A "MARKET BASKET." A RARE COLLECTOR'S ITEM AT ONLY $199.73.

NOW, WHICH HAT DO YOU LIKE BEST, MISS SWEENEY?

I DON'T LIKE ANY OF THEM.

OH, DEAR! NOW I AM IN A QUANDARY. AND THERE'S ALSO "TROPIC MOON".

LOVER, YOU HAVE NO IDEA HOW HELPFUL MISS SWEENEY WAS. I BOUGHT ALL OF THEM.

OH, YOU DID, DID YOU?

The PHANTOM

To Colonel Jungle Patrol
The girl Jade is an innocent accomplice of the master spy, Heg, who poses as an historian. Be warned.
Commander, Jungle Patrol

HONEST, SMITTY, HE SAID HE WAS WRITING A HISTORY OF THE PATROL. HE OFFERED ME A THOUSAND DOLLARS TO FIND THE NAME OF THE COMMANDER.

GOSH-- NOBODY IN THE PATROL KNOWS WHO HE IS.

JADE, I'M IN A SPOT! IF I SHOW THIS NOTE TO THE COLONEL, HE'LL KNOW I CAME HERE ALONE AND BROKE THE RULE! BUT HE SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THIS SPY!

GOLLY- HOW DID THIS MYSTERIOUS COMMANDER KNOW ABOUT HEG-- AND ME?

IN A SECRET TUNNEL, BELOW THE OPEN SAFE, THE MYSTERIOUS COMMANDER OF THE JUNGLE PATROL...

HOW DOES HE KNOW ABOUT ANYTHING? HOW DO HIS ORDERS GET HERE? NOBODY KNOWS. GOSH, WHAT'LL I DO NOW, JADE?

WILSON McCOY

IF I DON'T REPORT THE NOTE, I'M GUILTY OF TREASON. IF I DO REPORT IT, I'M GUILTY OF BREAKING THE PATROL'S STRICTEST RULE- ENTERING HERE WITHOUT THE COLONEL.

LET'S JUST FORGET IT ALL.

YOUNG SMYTH'S IN A JAM. IF HE ISN'T CAREFUL, HE AND THE PATROL'LL BE IN REAL TROUBLE.

I'D BETTER KEEP AN EVE ON HIM- AND THE MASTER SPY-- HEG!

TIM TYLER'S LUCK

HIS NAME IS RINKLE...

HE MUST BE VERY IMPORTANT TO RATE A JUNGLE PATROL ESCORT!

HE HAS PERMISSION SIGNED BY THE TERRITORIAL GOVERNOR TO ENTER RESTRICTED TERRITORY -THAT'S ALL I KNOW-

HEY, THE PLANE IS COMING IN NOW!

BECAUSE OF THE UNPREDICTABLE HEAVY WINDS AROUND HURRICANE MOUNTAIN IT WILL BE IMPOSSIBLE TO LAND THE PLANE -YOU WILL HAVE TO PARACHUTE WITH YOUR EQUIPMENT!

I HOPE WE DON'T GET CAUGHT IN A HURRICANE WITH OUR CHUTES!

MR. RINKLE, MEET PATROLMEN TIM AND SPUD- THEY HAVE BEEN ASSIGNED AS YOUR ESCORT !

THANK YOU, SERGEANT -WELL, BOYS, IF YOU'RE READY, WE'LL TAKE OFF !

SO LONG, SARGE -

MR. RINKLE, MAY WE ASK WHY WE'RE GOING TO HURRICANE MOUNTAIN ?

YES, OF COURSE, TIM-MY GOVERNMENT COMMISSIONED ME TO TRACE A VERY FAMOUS EXPLORER WHO LEFT WITH HIS FAMILY SEVERAL YEARS AGO....

LATER

...TO SEARCH FOR AN UNBELIEVABLY SUPER-INTELLIGENT APE THAT IS SUPPOSED TO INHABIT THE REGION AROUND HURRICANE MOUNTAIN!

GEE, DO YOU REALLY BELIEVE THERE IS SUCH AN APE ?

Copr. 1954, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.

WELL, I DON'T KNOW, LAD -I WOULD LIKE TO SEE IT !

THERE'S THE PILOT!

WE'RE NEARING DESTINATION! PREPARE TO SHOVE YOUR EQUIPMENT OVER THE SIDE AND JUMP WHEN YOU HEAR THE SIGNAL BUZZER!
